

ROADS ASK CHANGE IN POOLING PLAN

JAPANESE TELL SOVIET TO KEEP ARMY AT HOME

"Friendly Warning" of Serious Complication Sent to Moscow

TSITSIHAR OCCUPIED

Jap Forces Advance Into City from Camp South of Its Walls

(By The Associated Press)

Dispatches from Tsitsihar to Mukden said Japan's army began the formal occupation of the city at 10 a. m. today, (8 p. m. Wednesday, eastern standard time).

Earlier dispatches from Nanking said the Chinese were still in possession of Tsitsihar and Angangchi, but it appeared that Japanese forces had moved into the provincial capital from Tsitsihar Station, south of the walled city.

Yesterday's fighting, in which the Japanese were first reported to have captured Tsitsihar, apparently took them only as far as Tsitsihar station, although the advance guard entered the outskirts of the walled city last night.

The Japanese government has instructed its ambassador at Moscow to convey a friendly warning to the government of Soviet Russia regarding the danger of serious complications if Russian troops should be sent into northern Manchuria.

Fears that this might occur arose when Japan's forces advanced on Tsitsihar into the Russian sphere of influence.

From Harbin came a dispatch reporting that Chang Chi-Hui, governor of the Harbin district and friendly to Japan, had declared the independence of Heilungkiang province and set himself up as governor.

CONTINUE PURSUIT

Tokio—(P)—Japan's victorious troops, reported to have swept through Angangchi across the Chinese Eastern railway to capture Tsitsihar, today were pursuing the retreating enemy toward Koku Shan Chen, 150 miles northeast of Tsitsihar, the Rengo correspondent at Harbin reported.

Neither the foreign office nor the war office has made any announcement regarding the capture of Tsitsihar although advices from Mukden said General Honjo's headquarters had confirmed reports that the Japanese entered the city this morning.

Japanese charge that Russia is "partially responsible" for hostilities in Manchuria was on its way from Tokyo to Moscow today as the Japanese Nomon river army occupied territory on the Chinese Eastern railway, within the Soviet sphere of influence.

The charge was contained in Japan's reply to an earlier note of Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, which complained that Japan was "manufacturing" rumors of Soviet interference in the conflict.

The Japanese note, dispatched yesterday to Moscow, declares that the Russian-owned Chinese Eastern railway assisted in transporting Chinese troops to Tsitsihar and Angangchi from the east and west and it suggests that the Soviet government issue a fresh statement declaring it is not furnishing arms or munitions to the Chinese.

MOSCOW PERTURBED

Moscow—(P)—The reported occupation of Tsitsihar in Manchuria by the Japanese is bound to cause concern to the Soviet government because it involved crossing of the Chinese Eastern railway, jointly owned by China and Soviet Russia. Official comment has not been forthcoming yet, but Maxim Litvinoff, of the foreign affairs commissariat, referred to just such an eventuality in a recent declaration to the Japanese ambassador whom he reminded that any attack on Tsitsihar which involved cutting the railway might cause material damage to Russia's interests.

County Board Debates Gifts To Fairs

BULLETIN

Paris—(AP)—France and Germany came to a complete agreement today upon calling the advisory committee provided under the Young plan to consider revision of the reparations schedule.

The agreement was concluded during a three hour conference between the premier and Dr. Leopold von Hoesch, the German ambassador. The ambassador announced his government would send to the world bank and to the interested governments a letter asking for examination of Germany's capacity to pay. The bank is expected to act immediately upon receipt of the letter.

Young Man, Injured In Crash, Dies

Herschel Pagel, 23, assistant manager of the local Kinney Shoe store, died at 4:15 Wednesday afternoon of internal injuries received in an automobile accident last Sunday evening.

Pagel and Miss Hazel Fisher, 505 W. Washington-bldg., Oshkosh, were riding in the rumble seat of a roadster owned and driven by Charles Melzer, 745 W. Prospect-ave, when it turned over in a ditch to avoid collision with another car on Highway 41. Pagel received a fractured pelvis, a broken arm and internal injuries. Miss Fisher is suffering from a dislocated hip. Miss Viola Kiefer, 1220 W. Fourth-st, who was riding with Melzer in the front seat, was slightly injured.

Mr. Pagel's father, who as district manager of the Maytag company was located in Minneapolis, arrived in Appleton Monday evening. Survivors are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Pagel, one sister, Maxine, and one brother, Dorwin, all of Valley City, N. Dak.; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shoemaker, Macon, Mo. The body was sent from the Wisconsin Funeral home to Valley City Wednesday evening. Funeral services will be held either Saturday or Sunday.

Mr. Pagel, who had been assistant manager at the local Kinney store since August, 1929, came to Appleton from Minneapolis.

An investigation is under way by the district attorney's office.

OPPOSES LEGISLATIVE RELIEF FUND PROGRAM

Sheboygan—(P)—Opposition to the legislative proposal of raising a $12,000,000 unemployment relief fund was voiced by State Senator Herman E. Boldt, Sheboygan Falls, in an address before the Sheboygan-co board yesterday.

"Racine, Kenosha and Milwaukee favor this legislation to gain assistance from other parts of the state toward taking care of their poor," he said. "Communities should take care of themselves."

EXPECTS SENATE TO APPROVE TAX BILL

Watson Tells Garner "Reasonable" Measure Will Be Accepted

Washington—(P)—Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader in a conference with Representative Garner today informed the latter that the tax legislation enacted quickly. Nothing is more than uncertainty when it affects business.

"I believe the two parties will not be far apart on their tax views and rather than delay this question over a long period I think it to the best interest to get the revenue measure enacted speedily."

Pending announcement of the administration's tax plan and the decision of the Democrats on a revenue bill, the leaders have not engaged in any specific rate making discussion.

PLANS MAPPED FOR WISCONSIN RELIEF FUNDS

Committee's Figures to Be Taken as Index Throughout State

Madison—(P)—The figure of $6,000,000 in state aid for local unemployment relief, recommended by the legislative unemployment committee represents the total increase in relief expenditures by local governments from 1928 to 1931 and therefore was taken as an index of the amount they will need next year, the committee's report explained today.

The report is being published for submission to the special session of the legislature to convene next Tuesday and four installments of it have been completed.

Added to the state aid figure are $500,000 to be used as a free fund for adjustments so that no localities will be discriminated against and $1,500,000 for forestry work intended primarily for single men, who, the committee believed, will get little consideration as against married men with dependents. The total amount of recommended relief aid is $8,000,000.

The basis for distribution of the $6,000,000 to local governments is the same as that by which the figure was estimated—the increase in relief expenditures. Each locality would receive an amount equal to the added relief expense it incurred from 1928 to 1931.

Support of Children

Many demands were made upon the unemployment committee that the state fulfill its bargain to pay its share toward the support of dependent children. Recent state appropriations have not contributed anything toward this cause, and some counties contended if they got what was coming to them they would need no more state aid.

The committee said it considered this matter but found that the amounts which the counties would receive as a whole showed no correlation with increased public relief expenditures.

The committee's recommendations for state aid, both the portion to be spent on local public works to create new jobs and that going for direct relief.

WALL FALLS, WRECKING CONTRACTOR IS KILLED

IRONWOOD, MICH.—(P)—One hundred fifty men were tramping through wet forests today, continuing a search for Paul L. McDowell, Muskegon Heights, Mich., deer hunter who has been lost since Saturday.

UTES AT GETTYSBURG PLANNED BY VETERANS

Gettysburg, Pa.—(P)—The first surviving Civil War veterans in Adams-co planned a brief ceremony today to observe the fifth anniversary of the dedication of the Gettysburg battlefield at which Abraham Lincoln delivered his memorable address.

Only eight veterans survive in Adams-co, and two of them are 90. Their comrades planned to go to the cemetery to place a wreath on a pile where unknown soldiers are buried. The site is close to the place where Lincoln stood when he delivered his speech. Tonight the Grand Army members will be dinner guests of the Sons of Veterans.

Charges Prejudice

J. D. BECK

Affidavit Of Prejudice Is Filed By Beck

Commissioner Acts for Venue Change in Oleo Contempt Citation

Madison—(P)—Counsel for J. D. Beck, commissioner of the department of agriculture and markets who was cited for contempt of court last week in oleomargarine tax case today filed an affidavit of prejudice against Judge A. G. Zimmerman in what amounts to a test of the 1931 law on contempt proceedings.

Judge Zimmerman issued the citation. He ordered Beck to appear before him this afternoon and show cause why he should not be punished.

The commissioner is accused of distributing to county newspapers lists of merchants who sell oleomargarine. When Judge Zimmerman recently ruled the tax on oleomargarine retailers prohibitive and invalid he characterized circulation of the names of oleo dealers as an unfair trade practice and issued a restraining order against it.

In answering the contempt citation Mr. Beck had to procure a personal attorney and Daniel H. Grad, Deputy Attorney P. M. Willie and Assistant Attorney General Samuel Becker will represent the department of markets.

Filing of an affidavit of prejudice against Judge Zimmerman was done under the provisions of sections of the labor code enacted at the last regular session of the legislature. The new statutes provide that an affidavit of prejudice may be filed and trial by another judge and jury procured in cases relating to the labor laws.

Beck's case will test the issue whether contempt proceedings outside the field of labor disputes also are affected by these statutes.

If Judge Zimmerman sustains the affidavit of prejudice the case automatically goes to another judge and a jury, but if he overrules the trial will be ordered and an appeal likely will be taken to the supreme court.

Missing Deer Hunter Is Sought By 150 Woodsmen

Ironwood, Mich.—(P)—One hundred fifty men were tramping through wet forests today, continuing a search for Paul L. McDowell, Muskegon Heights, Mich., deer hunter who has been lost since Saturday.

The searchers were experienced woodsmen who deployed over an area of 85 square miles. At intervals they fired rifles in an effort to attract the attention of the missing man. Even railroad engineers took part in the search. Dozens of trains passing through the woods sounded whistles frequently. Finding a railroad and following it has saved the lives of many lost in the forests, woodsmen said.

The missing hunter's father, Henry, and his brother, Russell, arrived from the lower peninsula last night. But they are unfamiliar with the region. They awaited developments at the camp from which McDowell vanished.

SPEND DAY IN SHARP BATTLE OVER $11,300

Laabs Leads Opposition to County Aid for Fairs and Bands

Hot words were spilled in a tempestuous torrent of debate at this morning's session of the county board as two groups of supervisors steamed in a battle over appropriations for fairs, bands, Boy Scouts, etc. The total involved is $11,300.

When the board recessed at noon Supervisor T. H. Ryan, Appleton, had just climaxed the drive for the proponents of the fairs, etc., by an impassioned plea to keep the county going forward and maintain the educational institutions which the people have spent years in building up.

Supervisors Beck, Seymour, Ryan, Appleton, Jansen, Lutz, Gurnee, Burdick, Black, Tread, and Smith, Hortonville, were the chief speakers for those seeking the appropriations. Pitted against this group was Supervisor Laabs, Grand Chute, the leader of the men aligned against the appropriations. Supervisor Laabs had little outspoken support but an unofficial canvass of the board shows he has enough votes behind him, principally from supervisors representing towns, to challenge most any appropriation.

Would Table Requests

It took some little time for the board to start its discussion of the appropriations, because Supervisor Laabs sprung a surprise by introducing a resolution providing that all of the appropriation requests be laid on the table.

Included among these appropriations are $1,000 for the Seymour fair, $2,500 for the Hortonville fair, $1,000 for the Kaukauna fair, $500 for the 120th Field Artillery band of Appleton; $500 for the Appleton Free Public Library; $250 for elimination of foul blood among hogs; $250 for the town, village and city clerks' association; $200 for the Kimberly and Little Chute bands; $500 for Boy Scouts; $100 for the New London Chicken and Rabbit associations; and $500 for the Fox River Poultry and Pet Stock association.

Two Are Safe

Two other items are included in the proposed general appropriation list. They are $500 for the Children's Home Finding association and $1,500 for a country-wide plan of treating children with toxin against prevention of diphtheria. The supervisors agreed that these projects were worthy and they will probably be accepted with little discussion.

Supervisor Laabs' surprise resolution, found the opposing group unprepared but they immediately countered by demanding that the resolution be laid over 24 hours, as all resolutions must under the board rules. Laabs moved however, to suspend the rules and act on the matter at once. Finally, when it was brought out that Mr. Laabs' motion to table the various appropriation bills was undebatable he agreed to change it and strike out the words "lay on the table."

The motion to suspend the rules then passed, 19 to 31.

With these words stricken out, however, it was found the resolution was meaningless and Supervisor Laabs moved to insert the words "debatable." Such a resolution would be debatable. Supervisor Jansen then moved to amend the original resolution and take each subject up in turn and vote on it at the close of debate. This motion carried 23 to 15 but the supervisors promptly decided to pass the resolution.

Mussolini Phones His O.K. For Activities Of Grandi

Italian Premier Sees Growing Harmony in Relations With U. S.

Washington—(P)—Foreign Minister Grandi was enabled to tell President Hoover today that Italy and the United States see eye to eye on the world topics they have reviewed.

The authenticity came directly from Premier Mussolini in Rome. Over the trans-Atlantic telephone, he relayed his conviction the Hoover-Stimson-Grandi talks would "go a long way towards increasing the harmony of Italian-American relations."

The premier based his expression on several reports his foreign minister has given him by cable and telephone.

Signor Grandi responded a conference with Secretary Stimson this morning in order to talk with his chief from the comfort of his suite in the Mayflower hotel.

Mussolini had not instructions for the minister. They arranged to talk again tonight before Grandi leaves for New York.

When Signor Grandi failed at first to reach his "chief" because he was out of touch by telephone, he left word of the call and the premier later called him from his office in Rome. They talked four minutes.

The premier asked what kind of a reception the minister enjoyed and the reply, translated, was "wonderful."

In answer to another question, Grandi said the American newspapermen were treating him "very well."

The premier asked his foreign minister to convey to President Hoover his personal thanks to the American people for the "splendid reception" accorded the 59-year-old minister.

(Copyright, 1931, Associated Press)

Washington—(P)—Signor Grandi, prettily turning the old adage "When in Rome do as the Romans do," proved how quickly she had learned American customs by granting on her third day here, a press interview.

But she did what is seldom enough done in such conversations—she gave some news.

"Next year my son will come to America," she said. "He will come and see it, for I think that to look at this industrial country will have a good effect on his character."

Signora Grandi laughed happily as she explained that her three little telephone calls to her son, Flaminio, and daughter, Signorina, had prompted this decision.

"Very clearly I heard his voice," she declared. "And what do you think he said? 'Mother, this time you left us here, but next year we will come with you! Whether or not I can come, I do not know, but I shall come on my vacation!'"

The premier based his expression on several reports his foreign minister has given him by cable and telephone.

5 PROPOSALS PRESENTED TO FEDERAL BODY

Favor Loans Instead of Gifts to Weaker Railroads of Nation

WOULD CHANGE RATES

Plea Also Outlines Plan for Setting Up Operating Machinery

Washington—(P)—The railroad of the country today asked the Interstate Commerce commission to modify its anti-merger plan for setting the rails of many companies.

At the same time they presented for approval a plan for a national right-of-way corporation to provide maintenance with which to create the a new.

Such a plan is another step in the effort of railroads to secure additional revenues. The commission on Jan. 20 issued a plan for a temporary National 10 per cent rate increase and presented an alternative plan to increase to 15 per cent.

Approval was given surcharges of $2 and $3 a ton on some types of freight and 1 and 2 cents per 100 pounds on others. Major firm crops were exempted. The money realized was to be paid and used by railroads in making repairs on their plants. Jan. 1 was the deadline for the rails to present machinery for building the plan.

The commission is automatically reviewing the plan, unless rejected by Jan. 1, 1932, unless rejected by Jan. 1, 1932, unless rejected by Jan. 1, 1932.

Some railroad executives advanced their own plan for the commission's plan. They argued it amounts to more protection, making large gifts to weaker roads. It also was urged that such gifts would be wasted.

The Association of Railway Executives urged the latter over to their plan. They argued that the Interstate Commerce commission and the plan presented today was their work.

Five Amendments

To meet the more serious objections the amendments were asked. These are:

That the railroads should be granted the right of appeal.

That the plan should remove the commission's surcharges and should remain unchanged but that the railroads make their own plan in operation, come from basic rates.

That surcharges be applied to Interstate charges.

That the $2 and $3 per car surcharges be changed to cents per ton.

That the commission revise its order barring surcharges on less than loaded freight on routes up to 100 miles and reduce a rate per 100 pounds between 100 and 200 miles to this section may be expressed on the basis of first class rates.

The National Credit Corporation, proposed to handle the fund, would be chartered in Delaware with a capital of the amount of $100,000.

Administrative offices would be located in Washington and it would be subject to 12 members. Five directors would be chosen from the western United States, three from the eastern and one from the southern. One of the eastern directors would be from New England. The Twelve would be elected for three years and would be the president and have charge of the corporation.

All Roads Not Needed

An indication that the plan might be rejected is shown by the fact that the Interstate Commerce commission is considering amendments to the commission's plan. One is that the amounts arising out of the increase in the rates scheduled are to be distributed in the form of grants and not other such amounts may be treated as loans. In the plan presented they are treated as loans.

The petition then argues that grants are not necessary to accomplish the commission's purpose.

GREEN-CO HAS NEW LAW ON ROADHOUSES

Monroe—(P)—A drastic roadhouse regulation ordinance based on the Olson law of the last session of the state legislature was passed unanimously by the Green-co board yesterday. It provides a 45 annual license fee, inspection without warrant, and that liquor sales constitute a nuisance. The salary schedule of county employees was adopted without cuts.

C. V. BOB TO BE RETRIED ON MAIL FRAUD CHARGES

New York—(P)—The retrial of Charles A. Bob on charges of mail fraud is expected to begin as soon as the necessary legal formalities can be accomplished. An Italian jury yesterday reported as having stood seven to four for conviction. The trial lasted nearly seven weeks and was conducted at heavy expense to the government, witnesses having been brought to New York from many parts of the country.

Private Operation Of Muscle Shoals Favored In Report

FARM GROUPS SUGGESTED AS PROPER AGENT

Commission's Suggestions Sent to Hoover and Two Governors

Nashville, Tenn.—(AP)—Private operation of Muscle Shoals, preferably by a "corporation exclusively owned and controlled by organizations of farmers," was recommended today in the Muscle Shoals commission's report to President Hoover and the governors of Alabama and Tennessee.

The commission includes three members appointed by the governor of Tennessee, three by the governor of Alabama, and three named by President Hoover. Gov. Henry H. Horton, who made the report public here, withheld comment pending a study of its contents.

The report recommended that the Muscle Shoals dam, above Muscle Shoals on the Tennessee river in east Tennessee, be constructed by the government.

It was recommended that the shoals properties be operated "primarily" for quantity production of fertilizer and fertilizer concentrates, but the commission also advocated use of the properties for the manufacture of chemicals and for agricultural experiment and research.

As to electricity produced at the shoals, the report said fertilizer and chemical manufacture should be given first claim on the power output, but added that should there still be a surplus, provision should be made for its sale, "states, counties, municipalities and chemical operations to have preference."

Turning to terms of the lease the commission proposed that it be for 50 years, "with Boulder Dam clauses on re-negotiation as to rental." The lease should recognize the "right of recapture of the dams involved in this report, at the termination of the lease by the states of Tennessee and Alabama preferably," the report said.

As to income, the commission recommended that "not exceeding 25 per cent" of power rentals and proceeds from the lease or sale of surplus property be used for research and investigations and not more than 75 per cent of such income would be used to create a revolving fund to buy and store fertilizer and fertilizer materials and develop better methods of manufacture and distribution of fertilizers.

The report advocated the enactment of "the necessary enabling legislation by congress empowering the president of such agency as he may elect to negotiate and to conclude a lease contract . . . and to supervise operations thereunder, for and on behalf of the United States," it demanded on behalf of the United States.

Robot Pilot And Aerial Torpedo To Replace Big Guns In Next War, Claim

New York—(AP)—"Big guns" scoffed Elmer A. Sperry, Jr. "They'll play a minor role in military tactics of the future. The flying bomb is the thing."

Sperry, who at 38 has the enthusiasm of a stripling, explained today how the robot pilot, developed by his famous father with the admiring son helping, will revolutionize warfare if the world is ever afflicted with another war.

Meanwhile it is being devoted to peacetime uses. The Eastern Air transport today officially sets it to work flying air liners between New York and the south.

"A flying bomb or aerial torpedo," Sperry declared, "is the cheapest way to deliver a ton of explosive to an objective. A gun is the most expensive."

"Say you want to destroy an ammunition depot 500 miles away. A big gun couldn't do it, but an aerial torpedo could. You'd simply fit a cheap plane with a robot pilot and some other gadgets and load it with explosive. Then one dark night, it would take off by itself, with another plane following, controlling it by radio."

"When the flying bomb reached the depot, down it would plunge, blowing everything off the map. Then the human pilot could fly back and sit down to breakfast."

"The big guns of the World war cost tremendous sums. To get Big Bertha into place they had to use hundreds of men and strengthen bridges and railways to bear the weight. Then, after a few shots, they had to get a new gun.

29 SHOPPING DAYS TILL CHRISTMAS

"To do an infinitely bigger job by aerial torpedo means only the destruction of a cheap airplane and a few relatively inexpensive gadgets."

Sperry, who is now consulting engineer for the Sperry Gyroscope company, declared he was talking not about a vision but a practical thing. Back in 1924 William L. Saunders, chairman of the naval consulting board, said the aerial torpedo invented by the elder Sperry, who died in 1930, would have been used by the United States to hit targets 100 miles away during the World war if the Armistice hadn't intervened.

About nine years ago, in tests for the arm, the flying bomb struck targets 20, 50 and 90 miles away with ease.

The robot pilot, an essential feature of such a bomb, was developed through the years by the elder Sperry. Perfected with the aid of the son, it is in principle very much like another Sperry automatic pilot, called by mariners "Iron Mike," which keeps heavy steamships ploughing a true course for days through the sea.

BOY SCOUT LEADERS DISCUSS METHODS OF EDUCATING YOUTHS

Heilig Leads Discussion at Weekly Meeting of Council Heads

The scout method of "learning by doing," the demonstration of skill and "good-turn" service, and the significance of scouting ceremonies were emphasized in a discussion of Scouting Methods of Education at the third weekly meeting of the valley council leadership training conference in the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening. The discussion was led by Herb Heilig, director of Appleton vocational school, and chairman of the council training committee.

The significance and types of patrol, troop and individual projects, and the methods of inter-patrol competition, the vocational education through merit badge work, and the use of observation on hikes also were discussed.

Among the methods of teaching scouting which were outlined at the meeting are: Book study, competition, construction, dramatizing, demonstration, examination, experimentation, lecture, observation, play, project work and recitation.

It was pointed out that the ideal scouting method is an educational-recreational method of conducting a troop in such a manner that the boys themselves do their own thinking, planning, initiating, executing and examining.

WISCONSIN C. OF C. REELECTS BARCHARD

Appleton, Neenah and Clintonville Men Elected Directors

Milwaukee—(AP)—Re-election of John L. Barchard, Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce, and all other officers of the organization was voted at the close of the third annual meeting here yesterday.

Other officers are: Karl S. Reynolds, Sturgeon Bay, general vice president; Charles Hawks, Horicon, treasurer; and E. H. Krueger, Milwaukee, general secretary.

New directors are: Dr. William A. Ganfield, Waukesha; Dana Billings, Portage; W. A. Plen, Clintonville; Frank J. Schneller, Neenah; C. W. Hoyt, Oshkosh; C. C. Nelson, Appleton; A. E. Coffin, Green Bay; John Kleinheinz, Wausau; Dr. A. J. Wallace, Rice Lake; Walter H. Reed, Superior, and Reynolds.

The purchase by industry of raw material each month equal to 15 per cent of annual sales volume over their regular monthly requirements and the purchase by all employees of three months' supply of clothing, fuel, food and other commodities are features of a plan for business and employment stabilization presented at the session.

Louis Allis, president of a Milwaukee industrial concern, evolved the plan which he said, would provide employment at once of more than 2,000,000 persons if only 30 per cent effective.

MARSHALL FIELD OUTLINES CHARITY WORK OF SCOUTS

Addresses Statement to President of Valley Council

How boy scouts are contributing their bit toward the solution of complex social problems created by the depression is told by Marshall Field, the third, banker and financier, in a statement received here this week by F. N. Belanger, president of the valley council of scouts.

Mr. Field said: "Boy scouts look upon the present emergency as their biggest chance for service since the war. In the same spirit in which they gave their services in Liberty Loan campaigns and in other nation-wide activities during the World war, they offer their help in this winter's crisis."

"Working in full cooperation with community programs, boy scouts are engaging in activities which range from collecting food and clothing for the needy to serving as uniformed messengers from relief committees. In no case do they perform tasks which normally would be done by employed workers. They are not permitted to collect money, nor do they receive pay for their services."

"Every boy likes to feel that he is needed, that he is part of things in his home, school or community. In the present emergency, boy scouts in helping in their various communities are but carrying out their ideal of service. There are many ways in which the enthusiasm and willingness of boys can be put to use in their own neighborhoods. While they are helping their community leaders in even the smallest tasks, they are learning in a concrete way what cooperation means. They are also experiencing the pleasure of doing something useful for someone else.

Work During Summer
The helpful service which the boy scouts are carrying on this winter is but a continuation of what they have been doing since the present crisis developed. Especially in the summer were they able to assist in local programs for relief. Many boy scouts gave up time during their holidays to pick fruits and vegetables, cart them to central distribution stations, collect fruit jars for canning, and make surveys of neighborhood surplus supplies which had been offered for the needy.

"Concrete services of this kind but call attention to the larger work of training for citizenship which the boy scouts and similar organizations are carrying in throughout the country. Community leaders in planning budgets in this critical year, should remember to make full provision for the work of the boy scouts and other recognized groups which train boys to be responsible and happy citizens, useful both as individuals and as members of their communities."

PROVEN HONESTY
Monticello, Wis.—No one can now doubt the honesty of a debtor of Mrs. Martha J. Richards. Mrs. Richards was ironing recently when the woman, a former resident of this city and now living in Rockford, Ill., called and gave her $5 of a $5 debt she had contracted 40 years ago, with Mrs. Richards' husband, a store owner. She promised to pay the remaining dollar as soon as she could spare it.

2 APPLETON MEN GRANTED DEGREES

L. W. Morris Gets Ph. D. and
R. S. Jones Is Awarded B.
A. at University

Two Appleton men, Lloyd W. Morris and Robert S. Jones, were among the 199 persons who were granted degrees by the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin at their recent meeting. Most of the degrees were awarded for work completed last spring or at the close of the last summer session. Morris, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Morris, 535 N. Harrison, was awarded his doctor of philosophy degree. Mr. Morris, who is now head of research in the civics department of the University of Louisiana at Baton Rouge, took his bachelor of arts degree from Lawrence college, his master's from Wisconsin. After teaching in Cleveland, Ohio, for four years he returned to Madison to study for his doctor's degree.

Jones, the son of G. W. Jones, 229 N. Parkave, was given his bachelor of arts degree. He is now traveling in Europe. Of the 199 degrees granted by the University, 74 were to students from Wisconsin cities. Of the total number of degrees awarded, only 29 were first degrees, while the remaining 151 were higher degrees, most of them master of arts. Only 32 doctor of philosophy degrees were granted.

Council Hires Secretary For Poor Commissioner's Office

NEW WORKER TO TAKE CARE OF WELFARE FUND

Secretary Also Will Take Over Records of Home Aid Society

With a motion to adjourn nipping in the heels of the call to order, the common council did little Wednesday night outside of setting a record for speed. Not even the shade of an argument hovered over the council chambers, and the aldermen flashed through a two week collection of business with a snap almost foreign to meetings of common councils. They of the 10 o'clock and 12 o'clock tendencies adjourned at 8 o'clock.

The council voted to hire a secretary for $13 a week for the poor commissioner's office. Members of the poor committee explained that, inasmuch as the city department is to be the clearing house for the City Relief and Welfare association, additional help is needed to take care of the records and to do the clerical work incident to the handling of the welfare fund, which has been entrusted to the city treasury.

It was pointed out that though the treasurer will be in charge of the money, he will be unable to do the bookkeeping, because of pressure of work during tax time. With extra help in his office the poor commissioner will be able to do more investigating, and further, placing the records of both the city department and the welfare group in the care of one person will eliminate much of the duplication in relief work. The new secretary, who will be engaged for only six months, will take over the records of the Home Aid society.

Start Budget Work

The mayor asked committee chairmen to begin preparing the 1932 budgets for their departments, and stressed the need for using sharp pencils on their estimates. He urged them to trim down expenses wherever possible, so the 1932 budget will be as low as it can be made. The council voted to borrow $15,000, which brings this year's loans up to $35,000.

The cooperative fire fighting system among 14 cities of the Fox River valley, from Fond du Lac to Menominee, Mich., was adopted. Appleton thus pledges itself to aid neighboring cities in case of serious fire and in return will receive like assistance from nearby cities. The city sending aid assumes all liability for its men and equipment, while the city calling for help is responsible for gasoline and oil for borrowed equipment and for food and lodging for the fighting men. If a city sends two pumpers to help a neighboring city, the next nearest city sends one pumper to the city which has decreased its own equipment by sending aid.

An offer from the Citizens National bank as trustee for the owners, to sell the city the Wisconsin Driven Steel company building for $40,000, for use as a street department building, was referred to the street and bridge committee.

A protest from the Elks lodge against a decrease in the annual appropriation for the 120th Field Artillery band, and communication from the board of education placing the school tax levy at $365,000 were referred to the budget committee.

Deny Lot Request

The request to have seven lots north of College-ave, between Mason and Outagamie-sts, placed in the commercial and light manufacturing district, was denied.

A letter from the Fire Insurance Rating Bureau of Wisconsin, which last spring recommended a number of improvements in Appleton's fire fighting facilities, stated that there are only two cities in the state, Milwaukee and Superior, which have a better grading than Appleton, and that three cities with larger populations, Sheboygan, Kenosha and Madison, have the same rating. The communication was turned over to the fire and water committee.

Action on the bids on the Locust and Meade-st storm sewers was deferred. After the board of review adjourned, and after the state has decided what aid it will give cities in improvement work, the council will consider whether the matter will be referred to the engineering board.

Upon the suggestion of the chairman of the street and bridge committee that all bus stalls on College-ave, except the ones at the corner of College-ave and Oneida-st, be utilized for parking spaces, was turned back to the committee for further consideration. The chairman explained that it had been pointed out to the committee after they had made their recommendation that buses stopping on the near side of an intersection where green lights gave drivers behind the buses the right of way, might result in accidents.

Grant Class A Permit

Norman A. Walton was granted a Class A permit for a soft drink parlor on E. State-st, and the request to transfer a Class A permit from 615 to 614 W. College-ave was denied. An application for a permit for the E. Wisconsin-ave was referred to the police and license committee.

Copies of an ordinance placing lots in block 13, 14, 19 and 20, Bell Heights addition, into the local business district will be sent to all members of the council. Side curbs are to be purchased for one of the police department motorcycles. The old street department power grader is to be repaired, and a pole is to be moved from the valley in the rear of the Lutheran Aid building to the west side of Superior-st.

A communication from the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad company announcing that all railroad crossings in the city are to be inspected and repaired, and one from the city of the fire department advising the council that 50 members

INSPECTOR WARNS AGAINST SPECIAL CHRISTMAS LIGHTS

With the approach of the Christmas season, Louis E. Luebke, city electrical inspector warns merchants against the hazards involved in installation of temporary decorative lighting systems. Mr. Luebke is bringing this message to Appleton merchants through the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, which is in receipt of the electrical inspectors instructions for installation of decorative lights. Mr. Luebke points out that certificates of approval are issued for such installations.

BENEFIT SHOWS AT THEATRES TONIGHT

Hundreds of Residents Expected to Attend 9 O'clock Programs

Hundreds of Appleton residents, joining in a national movement called Motion Picture week, will attend 9 o'clock performances at the three Appleton theatres this evening in an effort to help swell the poor relief fund for Citizens Relief committee headed by Judge Fred V. Heinemann. The receipts from these performances will be turned over to the committee. Approximately 5,000 tickets have been placed on sale here at 50 cents each.

Appleton theatre owners are co-operating in the national campaign among producers and theatre operators during motion picture week from Nov. 18 to 25 to help raise funds for relief work.

Similar benefit performances are being conducted during the week by approximately 20,000 theatres throughout the country, and it is expected 15,000,000 persons will participate in the event.

DEATH IN MILWAUKEE IS CALLED SUICIDE

Milwaukee.—(P)—Paul E. Mueller, 35, president of a Milwaukee heating contract firm, who was found dead in his gas-filled garage early yesterday, was listed on records of the coroner's office today as a suicide. No motives for the act were revealed by Coroner Henry Grundmann. Mueller had inquest and apparently was overcome by carbon monoxide fumes while attempting to start his automobile. Funeral services will be held Friday.

A preliminary discussion of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce referendum on "Natural Resource Industries" will take place at a meeting of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce in the chamber offices at 430 Friday afternoon. The committee is composed of Harvey Schmitz, chairman, T. E. Orsborn, R. H. Marton, George Euth, S. C. Roszak, Hubert Backworthy and C. N. Fisher.

OUTLINE PROJECTS FOR SCOUT MEETING

Signaling and handicraft projects will be reviewed at the weekly meeting of Troop 1 boys scouts in St. Joseph school hall at 739 Thursday evening, according to A. Stoenhagen, scoutmaster. Plans for a meeting on the evening of Thanksgiving day will be discussed. It is proposed to have patrol leaders and their assistants arrange the program for the meeting.

ARRANGE PLANS FOR VOTERS' CLUB MEET

Final plans for the second annual program of entertainment to be given by the Fifth Ward Voters' club at Wilson Junior high school auditorium at 730 next Tuesday evening will be discussed at a meeting of the committee in charge Thursday evening. The group will discuss plans for various games and stunts, which are to feature the entertainment program.

of the fire department are contributing $5 a month and the chief $10 a month for the aid of the poor, were placed on file.

SEE CHANGES IN ECONOMIC LIFE, TEACHERS TOLD

Combat Control of Big Business, Prof. E. E. Schwartztrauber Declares

E. E. Schwartztrauber, professor of economics at the state university and defender of the teacher movement to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor, told some 180 schoolmasters of the Fox River valley Wednesday night at Conway hotel that American teachers must "wake up to the change in economic life" in order to combat the thumb control that big business, mergers and organizations is pressing on the school system today.

Henry Ohl, president of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor, and Mrs. Curtis Hansen, Chicago secretary and treasurer of the American Federation of Teachers, were special guests, representing the alliance of education and labor.

"Teachers are called the bulwark of the nation on the Fourth of July and on other holidays," Mr. Schwartztrauber said, "yet public utilities are dipping into the schools and universities with their control, patriotic organizations are censoring teachers and the subjects taught, reliable teachers striving to give truth to the student often are not kept in the system, such organizations as the O. T. C. and Citizens Military Training corps are keeping alive a spirit of nationalism which has got to modify itself in order to solve a modern problem."

Employer Policy State?

"Schools are becoming merely a place for the selfish interests of these organizations and the teacher a docile worker to keep the present state of affairs as it is, without any adaptation to changing conditions. Teachers' associations as they are today are largely under the control of the principal or superintendent in an employer policy state."

The three objections to a labor affiliation on the part of teachers, according to Mr. Schwartztrauber, are that such an affiliation is unprofessional, that it means partisanship on the part of education and that it is not safe from the viewpoint of the teachers.

In refuting these three arguments, he declared that education today must have its root deep in the masses, from whence come most of the children to be taught that intellectual snobbishness or utter ignorance on the part of teachers are causes for aloofness from the cooperation with the federation. He also said that partisanship cannot be accused when it is understood that educators are seeking among the masses.

"We live in the midst of Kiwanis clubs, chambers of commerce and in the psychology of different groups," he said. "The new ideal of the best man in the community has swung from the time honored schoolmaster to the business man, the man of success."

Want Children Educated

Mr. Ohl noted briefly that the American school system today is based on "that little red schoolhouse" that was founded and brought about by labor. He also pointed out that labor workers want their children to be just a little better than they, not only in pennance but in education as a whole.

"We want our children to be able to defend themselves through education from the social and economic abuses that heap upon them. Their cause is labor's cause and their future is placed in the hands of the American teacher," he said.

According to Mrs. Hansen, Chicago loans large a problem in education; but she declared it to be but a smoke screen of what is happening in the schools throughout the country. She favored the backing of labor to keep teachers' salaries, working hours and educational autonomy under group control.

Miss Blanche McCarthy, president of the Wisconsin Education association, and teacher at Appleton high school, outlined the strides the state organization has taken since its 78 years of existence. She pointed out the necessity for cooperation to bring about legislation, higher standards of education and professional interest.

Preceding the dinner and speakers' program, Appleton high school orchestra under the direction of Jay I. Williams presented a concert. The Rev. Lyle D. Guts gave a musical edict. The schoolmasters will meet for a second discussion in Oakdale in February. Herbert A. Heible, president, presided last night.

RAIN PREDICTED FOR APPLETON, VICINITY

The weatherman insists that this vicinity is to have more rainy weather. Showers with rising temperatures are forecast for Appleton for Thursday night and Friday.

Rain is probable throughout the middle west for the next 24 hours. Winds are shifting from the north and south-east, a good indication that rain is on the way.

Skies were overcast over most of the middle west Thursday morning, but no rain was reported in the immediate vicinity. At 6 o'clock Thursday morning the mercury registered 32 degrees above zero, and at noon it registered 52 degrees.

TROOP 4 MEETING

Valley council boy scouts of Troop 4, Oney Johnston post, American legion, will meet at 7:30 Thursday evening at Appleton high school auditorium, according to Ted Frank, scoutmaster. Various troop projects are to be reviewed.

FEDERAL OFFICERS SEIZE NINE CARS ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Washington.—(P)—There's a secret trick in it, but federal prohibition agents were overjoyed today at having caught nine liquor cars, 18 men and one woman during one night of high-way arrests outside Washington. Agent J. R. Brewer, in charge, would not tell how it was done, but apparently a hidden outpost took the numbers of all autos stopping at a suspect house in Maryland and flashed them to agents posted on the Washington road. It was the biggest haul made by southern Maryland agents this year.

ASKS SUPPORT FOR RELIGIOUS MOVE

Take Active Interest in World Movement, Students Are Advised

Students of Lawrence college were asked to take an active interest in the world movement for the Reunion of Christendom by the Rt. Rev. Harwood Sturtevant, bishop coadjutor of the Fond du Lac Diocese of the Episcopal church, in a brief address delivered at convocation exercises Wednesday morning at the chapel.

Rev. Sturtevant characterized the movement as "worth the enthusiasm of any thinking man today," and lamented the 257 different Christian denominations of today as "a pitiful thing." The development of Christianity was briefly outlined by the speaker who also traced the gradual breakup of religion into the multiple denominations of today.

The chief reasons enumerated for the world-wide movement for the reunion of the numerous branches of Christianity are that the church needs a united front so that it may speak with authority and with a single voice in regard to important issues such as in the preservation of peace, and that it is God's will that the Christian religion be a unity, he declared.

Rev. Sturtevant called the students' attention to the first conference of this sort held in Switzerland in 1927, at which every denomination of the Christian religion was represented, and to the next conference to be held in 1937 at the same location. He declared that the movement is not hopeless, when people come to realize the seriousness of their differences and create a real will to get together.

ENGINEER DISCUSSES TOWN PLAT CHANGES

About 20 town chairmen attended a meeting at the courthouse Wednesday afternoon at which N. P. Hayes, maintenance engineer with the division state highway department at Green Bay, was the speaker. Mr. Hayes discussed the changes to be made in copies of town plats which were sent to the chairman by the state highway department. The new plats will show town roads and streets, boundaries of lakes and rivers, and the town boundaries. The maps are to be used in correcting state records at Madison, Mr. Hayes explained.

CLAPP IS PRESIDENT OF FRESHMAN CLASS

Norman Clapp, Appleton, was elected president of the freshman class at Lawrence college at the final election this week at Lawrence Memorial chapel. Clapp also held the office of temporary president previously. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, and is a member of the Lawrence college chapter of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

SEYMOUR MAN FINED FOR ILLEGAL TRAPPING

Louis Oaks, Seymour, was fined $50 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning when he pleaded guilty of trapping without a license. He was arrested Monday by Louis Jeske, conservation warden, on the Shiocott river in the town of Osborn. The warden charged that Oaks had trapped and that he was unable to show that he had secured a license.

ENFORCE LAWS OF AVIATION, SPEAKER URGES

Majority of Accidents Due to Inexperienced Pilots, Kiwanis Told

The practical value of aviation, especially as it applies to commercial transport flying, was discussed by Irvin J. Ott, manager of the Air Service bureau of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce, in an address before the Kiwanis club at its weekly luncheon at Conway hotel Wednesday afternoon.

Rigid enforcement of aviation laws was advocated by the speaker. He presented statistics showing that over 95 per cent of airplane accidents in 1930 were caused by "green" pilots. He said only four and three-quarters per cent of all accidents in 1930 occurred in transport flying.

"Of the 385,000 passengers carried by transport planes in 1930, only 24 were injured in only nine accidents," Mr. Ott said. "In the last six months of last year, only two people lost their lives."

The speaker said Kohler transport planes which make three flights over Lake Michigan daily have completed two years of service with no accidents. These ships carried hundreds of passengers, and approximately 100,000 pounds of freight, most of which was made up of new car parts from Michigan factories, he declared.

Passengers Increase

Mr. Ott showed that there has been a tremendous increase in the number of passengers carried by transport planes since 1926. In 1926 there were 5,800 passengers transported, and the following year 12,000 passengers used the air on business and pleasure trips, he said.

"In 1928 over 52,000 people were transported by plane, and in 1929 there were 165,000," he said. Last year there were 335,000, and it is expected that before 1931, runs of more than 1,000,000 persons will have traveled by transport plane during the year," Mr. Ott said.

Discussing the necessity for enforcement of aviation laws, the speaker said every police officer and county authority should do his part in promoting safe flying by arresting flyers who are showing off by stunting and reckless flying.

Quoting several American flyers who have been in Europe, the speaker pointed out that the United States is far ahead of Europeans in construction of airports. There are three ports in Europe, however, which surpass the largest port in this country, the speaker said. These ports are located in England, France and Germany, and are surrounded by hotels, huge gasoline stations, and other structures closely allied to the flying business.

Aids Other Industries

"Aviation has not had a detrimental effect on other forms of transportation and communication, but has tended to aid the allied industries," Mr. Ott said. "More than 20,000,000 people in the United States are being benefited by the aviation business."

"Business of telegraph companies has been increased with the development of transport flying. Hundreds of telegrams are sent daily to and from reporters, carrying last minute flashes on weather conditions and hasty reservations for planes to distant points in the country."

Discussing the military angle of aviation, the speaker said Europe is way ahead of the United States in the construction of ships. Without a doubt, the next war, if there is to be another, will be fought in the air, he stated.

"Aviation covers many fields, and plays many unique roles," Mr. Ott said. "Bankers have come to realize that it is one of the best and safest ways to haul funds, and as yet no one has heard of air robbers in this country."

"Baby chicks are hauled by the thousands, the mortality rate being greatly reduced because of the quick delivery of the little birds. Many track enthusiasts transport their race horses by plane, because they are cramped around in a baggage car."

The speaker expressed the belief that before long, transatlantic flying will be common. He said that huge seadromes are now being constructed which are to be stationed at 375 mile intervals across the Atlantic ocean. These seadromes will enable ships to land on the sea with ease, he declared.

Declaring that construction of airports is no longer a private affair, the speaker urged club members to back community airports. He discussed the work of the fund collectors.

Administration of the charity work in this city, Judge Heinemann said, would be carried on by the Appleton Welfare and Relief council. This council, he said, is composed of charitable organizations of the city, including the city officials' poor relief organization. He said the relief program would be closely linked with the city's activities in this line to avoid duplication.

He said that the Citizens Relief committee is an advisory group to the welfare and relief council, but that it would play no part in the administration of the expenditure of the relief fund. Its only purpose, he said, is to raise the $30,000 goal set by the council. The judge also pointed out that the city treasurer was made custodian of the fund so that the poor relief program would be more closely linked with the city's program.

Judge Heinemann outlined the duties of the committee, telling the members that the committee's only function is to plan the financial program and to see that the $30,000 is raised and placed in the hands of F. E. Bachman, city treasurer. He said the committee members would remain in the background while the city's program.

SLEEPING SICKNESS VICTIM DIES AFTER 30 DAYS' ILLNESS

Louisville, Ky.—(P)—A victim of sleeping sickness, for 30 days, Dr. A. J. Berresheim, 50-year-old Louisville surgeon, died here today.

Most victims of the malady die within two weeks after contracting it, but Dr. Berresheim had been kept alive for the 300 hours by regular injection into his veins of a fluid containing maitose which served in place of food.

His attending physicians Drs. George A. Hendon and J. J. Morén, had said yesterday they did not expect him to survive much longer. Their associates said the method of feeding devised by Dr. Hendon, undoubtedly had prolonged life.

Dr. Hendon had termed his patient's existence during the artificial feeding "synthetic." Dr. Berresheim contracted "sleeping sickness," a form of encephalitis after having pneumonia. He had studied at the University of Vienna, and his wife, Dr. Frieda Berresheim, is prominent in local medical circles.

DAMAGE SUIT GOES TO WAUPACA-CO JURY

Shawano-co Farmer Seeks $10,000 Damages for Death of Wife

The $10,000 damage suit of Adam Alft, Split Rock, Shawano-co, against O. A. Young, Stevens Point, field representative of the Hardware Mutual Insurance company of Stevens Point, the outgrowth of an accident at the intersection of County Trunk S and Highway 161 six miles north of Ogdensburg, in which Mrs. Alft was killed, went to the jury in circuit court of Waupaca-co this morning.

The crash occurred Dec. 23, 1930. Alft and his wife were on their way to Waupaca. Their truck was thrown against a telephone post.

Alft contends that Young was proceeding at a high rate of speed and was careless. The defense contends that Young stopped his car at the intersection and that Alft was careless, in view of the slippery condition of the road.

GREEK LETTER GROUPS TO EXCHANGE GUESTS

Members of Beta Sigma Phi and Phi Kappa Tau, Lawrence college social fraternities, will exchange guests at dinner this evening in continuation of the plan recently inaugurated on the Lawrence college campus to promote good feeling between the various fraternities. Each fraternity will exchange 10 members for this evening. Dinner will be served, followed by a short smoker. It is believed that this plan will help create good will in inter-fraternity relations.

LEGION RIFLE TEAM PRACTICES TONIGHT

Oney Johnston post rifle shooters will meet again tonight at Armory G for their weekly practice with small bore firearms. The workout will start at 7:45, according to members of the team. About 12 experienced men are out for places on the squad, which will compete against other state posts and which will enter the state shoot later in the season. All veterans who want to fire rifle may report at the armory gallery.

Building Permits

Three building permits were issued Wednesday by John N. Wieland, building inspector. They were granted to Mrs. Emma Gosse, 1706 W. Division-st, one car garage, cost $60; Fred Piette, 514-516 W. College-ave, store building, cost $2,500; and Frank Kools, 1133 W. Lorain-st, one car garage, cost $150.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Application for two marriage licenses was made this morning at the office of John E. Hantschke, county clerk, by the following couples: Henry Wichman and L. Niece Evans, Appleton; Lester Wendt, route 4, Seymour, and Isabelle Brickman, Green Bay.

cussed the Milwaukee airport, and pointed out that the port is the only item on Milwaukee-co budget which has not received a decrease in appropriation.

"I have been accused of being in favor of high taxes. I want to say that I am not. I am in favor of progress and advancement. I insist that the county get value received for every dollar that is spent. In the last two years, including this one, the county will have cut its tax budget by 50 per cent—and it doesn't mean that these special appropriations will have to be eliminated."

False Economy

"Don't kill the goose that lays the golden eggs. There is something in his business growth and these are character and manhood and womanhood. Don't sacrifice the education of institutions which the county has succeeded in building up on the altar of false economy. Don't sacrifice the advancement of the boyhood and girlhood of our county in an effort to unnecessarily save a few pennies."

"Our fathers are doing a wonderful work. They furnish inspiration to the farm youth to try to do the things their fathers and mothers are doing in a better and more efficient way. They furnished a supplementary education to the boys and girls and the adults of the county. People today want stimulation and a false help to furnish it. It isn't a question of upholding and making better those wonderful institutions we have founded. Don't use the parable of currency to measure your faith but determine their worth by the good they do."

COUNTY BOARD IN HOT DEBATE OVER FAIR AID

Laabs Leads Opposition to Special Help from County

regarded the amendment and proceeded to discuss the appropriations as a whole.

Time To Cut Expenses

Laabs fired the first gun for the economy group. He pointed out that he didn't object to fair aid but that he felt that lately they were more carnivals than fairs. He pointed out that he felt that those attending the fairs should pay the cost and if the fairs were not self sustaining on the present attendance, they should raise their prices. He pointed out that he liked music and he was in favor of all other movements which would assist in the progress of the county but that he felt that farmers were in no condition to pay high taxes this year and every unnecessary expenditure should and must be eliminated.

Supervisor Beck countered on behalf of the Seymour fair association. He pointed out that the fair was a source of revenue to the county and that it should be a sane economy. He said years had been spent in building up the fairs in Seymour, as well as in Hortonville, and that this work should not be undone now. He said that the fair was being operated on a non-profit basis for the good of the county.

Offers Fair to County

"To prove our interest in the matter I can assure this board that any time the county wants to take over the Seymour fair they can purchase the entire affair for the outstanding debt of $13,500," Mr. Beck said. "And any fair appraisal of this property today would show it is worth $50,000 or more." Supervisor Beck was supported on his stand by Supervisor Smith of Hortonville and George Fiedler, a member of the Seymour fair association.

Charging that "back-scratching" probably will result in adopting all the resolutions Supervisor Laabs said his resolution contemplates killing all the appropriations at once. He declared that each request for an appropriation is signed by two or more supervisors who would vote for other appropriations just to get votes for their own.

M. G. Clark, valley scout executive, and E. F. Murphy, director of the 120th Infantry artillery band, spoke briefly outlining the worthlessness of the projects.

A long argument by Supervisor Jansen outlined his stand in favor of all the requests for appropriations. $274,000 Cut

A bird's eye view of the entire tax situation was presented to the board by Supervisor Burdick. He pointed out that the total tax levy last year was $301,000 while the total levy this year, including the special levy, was $274,000. The reduction of about $27,000, or more than 33 per cent.

"Any member of this board can be proud to go home to his constituents and show him what we did," Mr. Burdick declared.

"We have cut taxes by 33 per cent, greater than any reduction in any other county in the state. And we are able to do so without cutting out any of the facts which mean so many special works which mean so much to every taxpayer in the county. The total of all these special appropriations is $13,500, or an average of 6 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation. An average farm is worth $3,000 so the average cost to the farmer is 48 cents."

Opening his argument in favor of the appropriations Mr. Ryan said: "I have been accused of being in favor of high taxes. I want to say that I am not. I am in favor

EARNING POWER OF STOCKS NOT SHOWN IN ITS BOOK VALUE

It Seldom Has Any Exact Relation to Its Real Worth

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press

New York—Not only does the book value of a stock seldom have any exact relation to its real value but is even farther away from its market value. Some stocks consistently sell above their book value and some stocks almost always sell below their book value. General Motors is an example of the first group and United States Steel of the second. The reason is that book value is no criterion of earning power and only in exceptional cases could it be realized in liquidation. Take the following imaginary balance sheet for illustration:

Assets
Plant	$40,000,000
Inventories	5,000,000
Bills Receivable	2,000,000
Cash	3,000,000
	$50,000,000
Liabilities
Capital Stock (400,000 shares of $100 par)	$40,000,000
Bills Payable	3,000,000
Surplus	7,000,000
	$50,000,000

The book value of the stock of the value corporation is $125.00 a share arrived at by dividing the par value of the capital stock plus the surplus by the number of shares outstanding. Theoretically it is what would be left for the stockholders if the business were closed out, with plant and inventories sold, bills receivable collected, the bills payable liquidated, and the net proceeds distributed pro rata.

This involves the assumption that all this would be effected at the figures given in the balance sheet and yet the plant might bring $50,000,000, if sold and it might bring less. If the business were wound up it is doubtful whether the plant would be worth the same amount that it would be worth while the business was a going concern. It would certainly be worth less to any company engaged in some other line in the second place the book value throws no light whatever on earning power, which is what makes market value.

Although the company represented in our supposititious statement is

MRS. E. V. WERNER TO HAVE CHARGE OF YULE SEAL SALES

Funds Realized Will Be Used to Fight Tuberculosis in State

Mrs. E. V. Werner will be in charge of the sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals in Appleton this year, according to an announcement made today by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, which conducts the annual appeal for funds to carry on the fight against the great white plague in this state.

"There are estimated to be approximately 14,000 cases of tuberculosis in Wisconsin at this time," the association reports. "Last year 1,514 persons in this state died of tuberculosis.

"This mortality is far too high. It is particularly high among young people, killing more young men and women between the ages of 15 and 25 than the other five leading disease causes of death combined.

"Persons suffering from tuberculosis must be found and properly treated at once. Healthy persons must be warned of the disease and taught how to avoid it. They must be told the value of good health habits and of periodic physical examinations.

"Free chest clinics, at which approximately 16,000 persons are examined each year, are made possible

TIBBETT STILL IS BEWILDERED OVER NEW FOUND FAME

Great Baritone of Opera and Screen Sings Here Next Monday

In Akron, Ohio, last week, Lawrence Tibbett, who will appear here in a concert program Monday evening, watched a private screening of his latest talkie, "The Cuban Love Song".

A newspaper account of the event says that "He was like a kid with a new bicycle as he sat with a small group of friends watching the first screening of his picture. 'I'm glad to get away from the studio,' he said. 'I get more of a kick out of the human element of concerts and the opera.'"

Lawrence Tibbett is a bit bewildered about it all, says a newspaper reviewer. This thing called fame has descended upon him so rapidly. In such great chunks, that the great baritone, some say he is the greatest American has ever produced, isn't quite sure about it. Nor is he accustomed to it.

Half a dozen years ago Lawrence Tibbett was just another baritone, clamoring to be heard. He was fortunate enough to be contracted by the Metropolitan Opera company. Then he was assigned to do the part of Ford in Verdi's opera, "Falstaff". "Falstaff" was revived largely for Antonio Scotti, leading baritone at the Metropolitan for many years. But it was the youthful American who stopped the show. The front pages of New York papers the following morning proclaimed that a sensational new baritone had been discovered. Telegraph wires flashed the story to all corners of the earth. Lawrence Tibbett had a break.

But the young baritone went on in his unassuming way, studying hard, working diligently. The world knows the rest of the story—more operas, concerts, and finally movies.

Tickets for the Tibbett concert, to be given at Lawrence Memorial chapel, can be had at Belling drug-store.

TURTLES LIVE LIFE OF EASE AS PETS OF BIOLOGY STUDENTS

They may be only a couple of turtles living in a glass house to most persons, but they're privileged characters as far as biology students at Appleton high school are concerned. Osmosis and Osmosis, Jr., live a life of turtle-ease in the biology room. Their small aquarium home sits in the sunlight of a window sill, they're fed regularly and Osmosis the elder, a huge red and green striped fellow, has his daily exercise across the biology room floor every noon with an interested student as a nursemaid. The junior member of the aquarium is so diminutive that he is scarcely seen, but he scrambles to the top of the water for his food with great pep.

EXPECT ENGINEERS' REPORT ON DISTRICT

Believe Survey Will Be Completed by Time of December Meeting

Engineers of Pearce, Greeley and Hanson, engineering firm in charge of the preliminary survey for the metropolitan sewer district, expect to make a complete report of their findings at the December meeting of the Fox River Valley Municipalities association. The engineers have been working in the district between Neenah-Menasha and Kaukauna, studying industrial wastes, municipal sewerage, and inspecting sites for disposal plants and interceptor sewers. When the survey is completed cities and towns in this district will know whether it would be more economical to build individual plants or to join in a metropolitan district. The preliminary survey will cost the cities and towns interested $2,500, of which Appleton must pay $840.

Misbehaving Students Are Given Trial By Jury

When a "Good Fellow" at Wilson junior high school misbehaves at school, he doesn't face the principal but a jury of 12 schoolmates who give him a court sentence for his punishment, according to his misdeed and his attitude. This unique law and order group originated into a club this year through the eighth grade boys in the English class of Miss Kathleen Kimball. Each individual case of misbehavior is turned over to a student committee of Good Fellows, who consider the case and make a report at the meetings of the group. When the case comes to trial, the jury is selected at large by the club members and the foreman by Dr. M. H. Small, school principal. The student defendant has a chance to state his opinions and defend his actions. The behavior committee chairman presents the analysis of the case before the jury. A new committee is selected for each individual case of misbehavior.

Women Will Hold Bazaar In December

THE annual Yuletide bazaar of the Women's association of First Congregational church will be held Tuesday, Dec. 1, at the church. Napkins and luncheon sets, wrapping paper, shelf paper, foot stools of vari-colored hemp, aprons, cakes, cookies, candies and other foods will be among the many attractive articles to be sold.

A chicken pie supper will be served from 5 to 7 o'clock with Mrs. Howard Richmond in charge of the dining room. Mrs. Harold Podzinski will be chairman of the decorations for the Yule Shoppe.

George Schaefer, Greenville, discussed rural problems at the meeting of the Association Tuesday afternoon at the church. Dr. H. E. Peabody discussed current events, and Mrs. Peabody was in charge of the devotional. About 35 members were present.

Circle No. 3, Mrs. Walter Hughes, captain, acted as hostesses and had charge of a food sale which followed the meeting.

Miss Mabel Daelke was elected president of the Young People's society of St. John church at the business and social meeting Tuesday night at the church. Other officers are Miss Bernice Limpert, vice president; C. Krautisch, treasurer; and Miss Evelyn Whysol, secretary.

It was decided that the society will take charge of the candy booth at the church bazaar Dec. 1. Games were played and prizes won by Chester Krautisch, Miss Ramona Hagen, and Lawrence Lenz. The next meeting will be a social the first Monday in December under the direction of Miss Hagen, Neva Lettman, and Walter Winger. For Winter will have charge of the topic.

Two visitors, Ed J. Beirne, past worthy president, and Jake Shephro, trustee of Berwyn, Ill., were present at the meeting of Fraternal Order of Eagles Wednesday night at Eagle hall. They both gave short talks.

Six candidates were obligated, and preparations were made for the second class initiation in the Conrad H. Mann membership drive which will be held Dec. 2.

There will be no meeting next Wednesday night because of the Thanksgiving "barn" dance to take place that night at the hall. A New London orchestra will provide the music.

Over 200 persons were served at dinner Wednesday noon at the annual Christmas bazaar of First Baptist church at the church. Among the articles sold in the booths were salted peanuts, baked goods, candy and fancy work. A report on the event will be given at the meeting of the Women's Union next Tuesday afternoon at the church.

Zion Lutheran mission society of Zion Lutheran church met Wednesday afternoon at the parish school auditorium. The Rev. Theodore Marth gave a spiritual reading entitled, "Thinking Thank and Our Duty Toward God." Final arrangements were made for the Christmas sale to be held Dec. 2. Mrs. Elizabeth Hoffman is general chairman.

Mount Olive Lutheran church choir will meet for rehearsal at 7:30 Thursday evening in the church parlors. Russell Wichman will direct the rehearsal in the absence of A. O. Benz, who is attending the Missouri Fraternal Congress in Kansas City, Mo. A social hour will follow the practice period. Lunch is to be served.

Mrs. Eric Galpin was hostess to the St. Martha Guild of All Saints Episcopal church Tuesday afternoon at her home, N. Union-st. Twelve members were present. A social hour followed the business meeting. The next meeting will be in two weeks with Mrs. Cyrus Daniel, E. Alton-st.

The crew of the San Cristobal of the Methodist Social Union will meet at the home of Mrs. C. D. Thompson, 527 N. Durkeest-st., at 7:30 Friday afternoon. The captain of the group is Mrs. Otto Zuehlke.

SORORITY WILL OFFER RECITAL THIS EVENING

Sigma Alpha Iota, musical sorority, will present several of its members in recital at Peabody hall Thursday evening. Accompanists will be the Misses Margaret Trueblood and Marie Haeckle. The program, which will begin at 8 o'clock, follows:

MISS A. HAECKE BECOMES BRIDE AT HORTONVILLE

The marriage of Miss Anna Haecke, 614 S. Appleton, to George C. Wolf, 201 Park Ave., was celebrated at the home of Mrs. Haecke, 614 S. Appleton, on Sunday at the parsonage of the Lutheran church, Hortonville. The bride was escorted by her brother, Mr. Haecke, and the groom by his brother, Mr. Wolf. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Torrey, Hortonville. Witnesses were Mrs. Haecke, Mrs. Wolf, and Mrs. Haecke's mother, Mrs. Haecke.

Flees Prison

Here is Mrs. Irene McCann, 20, who was captured after escaping from the Missouri penitentiary, walking along a road toward Carthage, Mo., where, she said, she hoped to obtain evidence to free her husband, Albert, who is under sentence of death there for murder.

PARTIES

Seventy tables were in play at the third of the series of card parties sponsored by Appleton Apostolate Wednesday night at St. Theresa hall. Prizes at bridge were won by Mrs. F. Dauchert, Mrs. Leo Rehner, and Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, at schafkopf by Mrs. L. Steffen, Mrs. J. La Fond, at dice by Melvin Schneider and Mrs. J. Oskey. Mrs. Henry East was chairman of the party.

The fourth and last of the series will be held Friday night at Columbia hall. Grand prizes and prizes for the night will be awarded. Miss Dina Geenen will be chairman and she will be assisted by Mrs. August Arndt, Mrs. Charles Piette, Mrs. Peter Jones, Mrs. M. Farnard, Mrs. T. J. Lenz, Mrs. P. Heenan, Mrs. Eugene Walsh, Mrs. Norbert Roemer, Mrs. P. J. Vaughn, Mrs. P. Crabb, Mrs. M. Kerrigan, Mrs. James Mc Ginnis, Mrs. C. Mullen, Mrs. Charles Baldwin, and Mrs. W. M. Nemachek.

Relatives and friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. John Bartels Wednesday evening at their home, 921 N. Superior-st., in honor of their forty-fourth wedding anniversary. Games were played and prizes were won by Chet Merckle, Mrs. William Rookes, William Groth, Mrs. Wilhelmna Peterson, Harry Kahler, Mrs. Paul Theimer, and William Rookes. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Art Rohm, Glen and Betty Rohm, Frederick Kahler, Mrs. John Miller, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Miss Lillian Regner, 519 N. State-st., will entertain the F.W.I. club at her home Friday evening. Court whist is to be played following the regular meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolf will make their home at Edgewater on the Fox, north of the city. Mr. Wolf has been in the manufacturing business in the west, but expects to locate here and open an eastern plant. He is an auditor and accountant, having been employed by the state of Oregon for several years.

Can't Expect Peace If You Have Child

BY ANGELO PATRI
"All I want is a little peace. Before the children came my husband and I could sit down at an evening and rest in quiet. We could read, listen to the radio, go to a play, talk together in peace. Now there is no peace. If one child is not calling the other is. Sometimes I think I shall go mad."

Better not. Just better not. You see when you undertake to care for children you enlisted for the period of the war. Full time. There is no way out of it. Children are not given to considering their parents' feelings whenever hunger strikes them, or whenever pain, loneliness, discomfort touches them. They cry out in their helplessness and we must go to their aid.

Nobody works as hard as a mother of little children. Her hours run on from day to night from night to day in a seemingly unending succession. Her head may throb and her back ache but the call must be obeyed. Dropping off her feet for sleep she must rise and go to the crib to soothe and comfort the helpless child lying there.

But there is comfort even in travail. "This too must pass away." One may know that once safely through this period of helplessness infancy the children soon learn to help themselves and each other, even help their mothers. It is this thought the wise mother keeps in mind as she struggles day by day with her brood. "I must handle him today that to-morrow he may be able to help himself."

Keep heading the child toward self help. Don't lose your sense in the thrill of self sacrifice for as sure as you do your sacrifice will become bitter bread and you will rue the day you made it. Help children only as much as they need, and no more. Train them to stand up on their own legs and to use their own hands as soon as they are conscious of having them. Train a child to turn on his own bed light. One attached to the head of his bed is a great help. It gives him courage to know that by pulling a chain he floods his world with light. It helps him in the struggle to help himself.

Prize him for helping himself, and for trying to help his baby brother and sister. Allow for his fumbling fingers, give him time, be gracious about his clumsy efforts, and he will soon be an adept at this job of self help. Scold him and he will tremble and hold back in fear. Help him too much and he will lie in his crib and whimper. Hold out the hand of fellowship to him and he will prosper like the green bay tree.

But peace? That depends. If you have the power to organization, if the children are healthy, you can have hours of peace occasionally. I cannot promise anybody who rears children that they will have days of peace and quiet. Children who are so quiet, so good, so colorless and inactive as to allow their parents' days of peace are in danger of the pit.

Better make the best of the growing time. Do your best to plan for time out. Train the children toward self help. Take what comes and remember. "This too will pass." Remember that all too soon. The quiet house is a lonely place—and a quiet of peace. Peace lies in the satisfaction of accomplishment, not in emptiness.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Croomulsion, an emulsified croscote that is pleasant to take. Croomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, croscote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Croomulsion contains, in addition to croscote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the croscote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Croomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough, cold, or bronchitis does not long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

SUE was right. The voice at the other end of the telephone connection explained that the man who had buried the poison had been caught. He was the man on whom suspicion had rested.

As Sue replaced the phone and turned back to the quiet cheerfulness of Harry and Corrinne's living room she had a sense that physical dangers were over. Almost as though the call had marked a turning point. A cheery fire snapped on the hearth. Lamps shed silken, rose-colored light. Within there were peace and happiness now. Danger was gone.

"Jack—Jack—" she called, and he came across the room quickly.

"The man's caught . . . there isn't anything to worry about now . . . or ever."

"We won't mention this—even to anyone, will we?" Corrinne called from the far side of the room. "It would worry people . . . our own people, I mean. It's lots better to forget it."

"Of course," Sue turned the diamond circlet on her finger. "We'll forget it. There's a car stopping outside. Have you asked guests for dinner, Corrinne?"

"I don't think so," Corrinne jumped up, a tumbled red elf in the dark wine of the shining dress she wore. "But we have some, anyway."

Sue pulled aside a heavy drape and looked out. "Just one guest! It's Nancy."

"Good! Nancy is a relief after tragedy. She makes life more stimulating," Jack said, and Sue wondered if she detected relief in his voice. Relief as though he welcomed an outside attraction. Then she put it aside. After all, Nancy was older. She was Harry's stepmother.

If Jack welcomed some presence that would break the melancholy spell that she had succeeded in weaving she ought to be glad, she told herself.

But she rather wished that Nancy had not come.

But Sue forgot about her doubts the next second. A sudden realization of the reason that Jack had welcomed Nancy so heartily came to her. He was homesick for someone a little older, a little wiser, a little more of a refuge. She herself was younger. She had needed help. She hadn't been able to give it. And Jack, still weak from his illness, still hurt by his father's indifference, wanted something which would bind him to his old world. Impulsively Sue slipped her hand into his and he held tightly.

Jack smiled into her eyes with such devotion and adoration that she was glad Nancy had come. Nancy might be able to advise her, too, as the weeks went by.

Then Sue remembered the etching of Nancy that she had seen in the portfolio in Arnold Page's den. And she thought of his crutch and shuddered.

"Anything new happening?" Nancy asked, slipping out of her coat and letting the sea-green velvet of her dress catch the gold glow of the lamps and the rose glow of the fire.

"Nothing but some acid throwing stunts," Harry answered and explained. "We've just agreed to forget all of that, though. What have you been doing?"

"I?" Nancy laughed. "Nothing I do is very important. I've played bridge five times this week. And I hate bridge! But one must do something. There are hours to be put in, you know."

"Why don't you find something you like to do and do it?" Jack asked bluntly.

"Yes, Jack. I wonder why I don't." Her jade eyes held his a second. "Do you know what I would like to do? Kill elephants and sleep in a jungle and sit and dream around a campfire with the corotes crying . . ."

She stopped as her eyes met Sue's.

NEXT: A decision.

Itemize the different articles of furniture and clothing in your home. In case of fire such a list would be invaluable.

Leftover buttered toast can be dried in a slow oven and then rolled and the crumbs are already buttered.

Belted Frock

BY ANNABELLE WORTHINGTON

When little daughter reaches school age, you may fancy she'll be better suited by a dress that belted at the waistline.

Here's one that is very practical besides being smart.

It has a comfortable neckline, easily pressed box-plats and modish long sleeves. However, the pattern provides for short sleeves if so desired.

A tweed-like woolen in Spanish tile as the original model, is adorable. The collar is white pique, completed with a pert tie of brown gros-grain ribbon. The belt is brown patent leather.

You'll find it the most simple thing imaginable to make it.

Wool jersey, wool crepe and rayon novelties are also suitable.

SCHOOL BUILDS SUITES FOR WEDDED STUDENTS

Oberlin, Ohio — (AP) — Suites for married couples are the latest accommodations offered by colleges in their dormitories.

Apartments for married students are provided in the new $600,000 quadrangle of the Theological Seminary of Oberlin college.

The quadrangle is a gift partly from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and the late Mrs. D. Willis James of Oberlin. It is designed by Cass Gilbert, architect of the Woolworth Tower, in Lombard Romanesque style.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

HOPELESS LOVE SHOULD BE ABANDONED—ADVICE TO THIRCE MARRIED

Dear Virginia Vane: It seems I get nowhere with my own problem so am hoping you will tell me what to do. I am in love, and have been now for about a year. When I first met the man I love he gave me quite a rush and was very sweet.

I fell for him so hard I didn't think of anything else but that he loved me. Well, then he told me that he couldn't go on with me because he was seeing too much of me and as he wasn't really in love, he didn't think it was fair to me. I thought that he would break my heart. After that he said he would like to be friends with me and since that time we have been seeing each other about once a week and he is always very nice. But I am crazy about him and wonder when he is going to call for me. I can't be just friends with him when I love him so much. Please tell me how to act toward him? Shall I go on being friendly or shall I let him know the truth? BETSY.

No, apparently he guessed the truth about your feeling for him when you first met him and at that time he tried to tell you as tactfully as possible that although he would like to be on friendly terms with you he wasn't and never could be in love with you. He made it quite plain, it seems to me, and unless a miracle is going to happen you can't expect much romance from his direction.

You've got to make up your mind whether it's worthwhile to go on seeing him—feeling the way you do about him and suffering agonies of vain hope and suspense. Wouldn't you have more peace of mind if you gave up the vain attempt to make him fall in love with you and turned your mind to a more profitable matter.

As it is, he probably spoils your friendships with other boys because you prefer to be all wrapped up in him and unkind of other men's attractions. He undoubtedly takes a good deal of the joy out of life for you, as he falls to give you the encouragement you want so much. What's the profit in this, my girl? How long are you going to entertain the most forlorn hope of all—the hope that a man who has definitely said he wasn't in love might suddenly change his mind and fall heavily?

No, life is too short for such hopeless waiting. Get all the fun out of it you can, and don't let this one boy affect you too seriously. If you can't see him without entertaining a vain passion for him, then give up seeing him. He's a destructive factor so long as he can make you unhappy and you don't want destructive factors hanging around.

Try to Make Marriage Success

G. S. You have messed up two men's lives very badly and it seems to me you ought to feel extremely disinclined to start making trouble with a third. You've found that after all one husband is very much like another—and that you are no happier today with your third matrimonial attempt than you were with your first.

Doesn't that give you a faint idea that there's something wrong with you, not with matrimony? Don't you feel that perhaps you ought to get used to making the best of a bad job, instead of continually striving to please yourself and no one else. You can't achieve anything but disaster if you try to make still another change. You might be able to increase your own self-respect and add to another's happiness by doing the best possible right where you are.

Things are only bad for you because you're always looking for trouble, and because there is always in your mind's eye the picture of a nice easy divorce to be obtained the minute a husband is not the perfect slave you want him to be. Stop thinking of divorce and think of making your marriage a success. Think of making your husband happy. It is not his fault that you have no talent for marriage. He deserves some kindness and consideration and perhaps the best way you can atone for the trouble you've caused in your brief span of years is to work hard to please someone else—to forget yourself and find more peace and tranquility than you have ever known before—in the happiness of someone else. It's a difficult program for you but you might try it.

TWO STREETS VACATED BY CITY COUNCIL

Aldermen Rescind Action Taken at Meeting
Two Weeks Ago

Neenah—The city council Wednesday evening, rescinded its action of two weeks ago and approved a petition from residents on the eastern end of E. Forest-ave and Grandview-ave asking that the streets there be vacated. The petitioners were headed by Ernest Mahler. Mr. Mahler owns the greater part of the property there. The motion to rescind its former action and give the petitioners one street and part of another was made by Alderman Hanson of the Fourth ward. He pointed out that there is no outlet to Grandview-ave, and no chance for cars to turn. The extra cost for maintaining a light there, keeping up the street's appearance, and snow removal in the winter, also were mentioned by him as reasons for vacating the street.

Mrs. Stuart, alderman from the First ward, demanded an explanation for the change in the attitude of the council which, two weeks ago, opposed vacation of this land. She referred to the report of the planning commission, which advised not to give up the land, and also to the report of the landscape gardener, who advised retaining the property, which could be transferred into a beauty spot.

"Something very peculiar has happened since the last meeting," she said. "You gentlemen are custodians for the people of Neenah and are responsible for every inch of ground in the city. Personally, I may wish to give it, but I don't want to see it go to a man who desires so much to beautify his property, but the tax payer is to be considered first."

On call for a vote on the motion made by Alderman Hanson to reconsider action, all voted in the affirmative but Mrs. Stuart. Alderman Hanson then moved to accept the original petition for vacating the two streets and accept the majority report on the resolution passed at the last meeting.

Amendment Ruled Out
Mrs. Stuart suggested an amendment to the effect that the city vacate Grandview-ave but retain the end of E. Forest-ave, but she was ruled out of order on the grounds that an amendment could not be added to the original motion at this meeting. She asked Mr. Mahler whether he would be willing to make that sacrifice, but he refused to answer until the council had acted, as discussions were not open to the public. On the vote offered by Alderman Hanson to vacate the streets, all present again voted in the affirmative but Mrs. Stuart. Mr. Mahler then informed the council he would be glad to see that part of the road would be available for a turning place for autos.

Two projects which would provide work for the unemployed were discussed. They were construction of a combined Second and Fourth ward storm sewer system to cost approximately $17,000 and giving 45 men employment for at least three months, and laying a draining system at Columbus and Lowden parks and the Fourth ward park area at a cost of about $15,000, which would provide 20,000 man hours of labor. Plans and specifications were authorized prepared for both projects, and bids will be sought.

As another unemployment relief movement, the water filtration plant project was introduced through letters from Bergstrom Paper company, Max Schalk, Theda Clark hospital, Mrs. T. D. Smith and J. M. Donovan. Neenah Paper company and Meyer Baerstein company. Construction of a reservoir for water storage was recommended, as was erection of the filtration plant. Mayor Sande approved the project and asked for a motion authorizing the water works commission to prepare plans.

Wanted Public Vote
Alderman Shipwrecked submitted the question to a vote of the people, alleging that the waterworks department plans, J. J. Sande and Arthur Ritter, water works commission members, referred him to the report submitted to the council some time ago by an engineering firm following a survey here.

D. K. Brown of the Neenah Paper company said he believes next winter is going to be serious from an unemployment standpoint, and that if the city has such projects in mind to tide the unemployed over the hard times, arrangements should be made to go ahead with them at once.

Alderman Ayward moved that the matter be referred to the water commission so that plans and specifications could be prepared to present to the council. Should the plan be accepted, bids will be advertised for. On the vote Alderman Bell, Hanson, Shipwrecked and Ritter voted in the negative while Alderman Ayward, Mr. Stuart, Loehning, Freeman and Ebert voted in favor of the project.

An ordinance prohibiting emptying storm water from eaves, overfilled cisterns and other sources into the sanitary sewers was presented, but action was delayed until some outlet for this overflow water can be provided.

The furnace at the city hall was removed out of commission by the committee on parks and public buildings. The committee asked for time to select a heating system for the building. New chairs for the city hall auditorium will be purchased from a surplus fund by the committee on public buildings.

John O'Leary, city attorney, reported difficulty in securing land for road for widening purposes. Some residents expected he paid for land. Mayor Sande said widening of the street will be an improvement to the property there, and suggested that if they don't want to give up the land, condemnation proceedings should be started.

The finance committee reported on bills totaling $9,555.74, which were authorized paid. All aldermen but Robert Marten were present at the meeting.

MOTORCYCLE COPS MADE 87 ARRESTS IN LAST SUMMER

Neenah—The four Winnebago motorcycle officers made only 87 arrests last summer, but the fines and costs imposed against individuals apprehended by them amounted to $3,336.54, according to their annual report submitted to the county board.

Irving Stulp, Neenah, made 29 arrests for which fines totaled $1,153.51. The other officers had records as follows: Harold Nielsen, Neenah, 21 arrests, $732.61; Julius Holtz, 18 arrests, $820.08; and E. C. Abel, 19 arrests, $850.74.

In approving a resolution offered by M. F. White, the supervisors authorized the hiring of the four motorcycle officers for county duty this winter. Each will work on a part-time basis, in accordance with the similar plan practiced last winter. They will be assigned to duty during January, February and March.

JUNIORS, SENIORS WIN CAGING GAMES

Second Round of Inter-class
Tournament Takes Place
Today

Neenah—Junior and senior class basketball teams won the first round Wednesday evening in the annual inter-class tournament in the high school gymnasium. The class tournament is the first basketball activity of the season and is followed by Coach Ole Jorgenson's selection of material for the high school team.

Neenah played at center for the freshman team; Napier and Heany at forward and Schmeidler and Krause guards; Lemberg and W. Jensen substituted late in the game. For the juniors, the opposing team, Thomach played at center; Haire and J. Beisenstein, forwards; Krause and Kuehl, guards; Gollnow, Dengel, Menning, Wruck, Voelcker, H. Neubauer, Bylow and Schalk played before the game ended in a win for them, 29 and 13.

The senior-sophomore game resulted in a score of 26 and 16 for the seniors, which had for its starting lineup Whitman, Owens, Oanne, Toepfer and N. Smith. Blonk was at center for the sophs, with Patterson, Solomon, Fettes and Palmback making up the starting lineup. Erdman went in at the start of the second half.

In the former game Monroe Haire was high point maker with eight baskets, while in the latter game Oanne cut the circle for six baskets made. Paul Kalfahs refereed. Thursday afternoon the freshmen and seniors will play at 4 o'clock and sophomores and juniors at 4:45.

Frederick, Edward Neubauer and Ervyn Bell, last year lettermen, are coaching the freshmen, sophomore and freshmen teams, respectively, during the tournament.

OSHKOSH BEARS BIG SHARE OF TAX LOAD

Neenah—According to the table of equalization approved by the county board during its present session, the city of Oshkosh will bear 48.717 per cent of the county tax levy. Neenah and Menasha, respectively, are next largest taxing units in the county, paying 14.402 and 11.288 per cent, respectively.

The 16 towns of the county, collectively, will pay 24,550 per cent. The village of Winneconne and Omro will contribute 0.708 per cent and 0.810 per cent, respectively.

The aggregate recommended value of the county is tabulated at $136,791,191. Figures of aggregate recommended value for the three cities are: Oshkosh, $66,641,047; Neenah, $19,700,619; and Menasha, $15,441,457.

GUARD COMPANY FIVE LOSES FIRST GAME

DISCUSS PRICES OF SCHOOL SITES

Board of Education Holds
Joint Meeting With Common Council

Menasha—Prices quoted by owners of property included in the proposed new Fourth and Fifth ward school sites were discussed at a meeting of the board of education with the common council as a committee of the whole at the city offices Wednesday evening.

The meeting was called to determine the advisability of dealing directly with property owners or section procedure. Definite action was delayed, however, pending further investigation. The matter will be reconsidered by the aldermen at the regular meeting, Dec. 7, officials expect.

Prices on the several properties involved were obtained at a meeting of the school sites committee with property owners Saturday evening. The board of education held an informal meeting with architects for the proposed new Fifth ward school Wednesday afternoon. Foeller, Schober, and Berner of Green Bay have been selected to draw plans and specifications.

TWIN CITY DEATHS

MISS MAE MILLER

Menasha—Miss Mae Miller, 38, 341 Second-st. Menasha, died here Wednesday afternoon. She had been in poor health for about one year and had been at the hospital for the past four weeks.

She was born in Chicago Jan. 7, 1893, but was a resident of this city nearly all her life. Survivors are her mother, Mrs. Catherine Miller, Milwaukee; her father, E. F. Striegnitz, Milwaukee; a grandmother, Mrs. Sophia Miller, Menasha; and one sister, Harriet Miller, Milwaukee. She made her home with her grandmother here.

Funeral services will be at the Laemmrich funeral home, 612 Milwaukee-st., at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and at St. Paul English Lutheran Church at 2:30. The Rev. Charles Fritz will officiate and interment will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

MICHAEL MADIGAN

WOULD CHANGE DATE OF NEENAH-MENASHA GAME

Neenah—A plan to stage the annual Neenah-Menasha football contest on Armistice day each year was submitted for consideration to Menasha Kiwanis and Rotary clubs at a joint meeting in Hotel Menasha Wednesday noon.

Speaking on the merits of the plan, Leo Craig, Kiwanis president, explained that it would be easier to declare a half holiday in twin city business districts if the game is staged on Armistice day, than if the contest is played on Saturday. If approved by the service clubs, the plan probably will be submitted to the Menasha and Neenah boards of education for consideration.

GROVE KEGGLERS BEAT CLOTHES SHOP TWICE

Menasha—Rallying after the first game, the Grove Kegglers upset the league leading Clothes Shop aggregation in two out of three titles in Handy Recreation Women's league bowling here Wednesday evening. In spite of the loss of two games, the Clothes Shop team holds a four game lead in standings.

The Pankratz Fuels won three straight games from the Fulcan Paints and moved into third place. The Blue Bills won two out of three contests with the Bach Dry Goods quint and the Handy Five dropped three straight games to the Andy Oils.

DEEP SEA DIVER IS HIGH SCHOOL SPEAKER

Menasha—Robert Zimmerman, Chicago, a deep sea diver, entertained Menasha high school students in an assembly program Thursday morning. Zimmerman related a number of his experiences, and displayed a collection of trophies and curios gathered from the bottom of the ocean.

ELKS, LEGION PLAN THREE-DAY BAZAAR

Menasha—A three-day bazaar in Elks' hall Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the proceeds of which will be divided between the charity funds of the American Legion and Menasha lodge of Elks, is planned by Elks and Henry J. Lenz Legion post here. An elaborate entertainment program will be outlined by committee workers.

STOCKS SHOW FINE BALANCE IN NOVEMBER

Uniform Fluctuations Characterize Market So Far This Month

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—(CPA)—It may or may not be an evidence of approaching stability in prices but it is an interesting phenomenon of this month's stock market that it has been in almost perfect balance with the price pendulum swinging upward in the first week of November and backward an equivalent distance in the second week. It is a long time since such uniformity in fluctuations has occurred.

These compensating movements have brought the average of the three groups of stocks to practically the level at which they ended in October. In seven market sessions the industrial list rose from an average of about 104 to slightly above 119. In the six following sessions it declined to almost exactly the level of Oct. 20. There was one day in which the average loss exceeded the average gain during the period of advance. Transactions were at a larger average daily total on the upswing than at the decline. The public was buying stocks in odd lots while the market was rising. The professionals were selling them in a cautious way when the trend turned downward.

Rail Rise Interrupted
About the same movements occurred in the railroad list as in the industrial, except that the early rising trend of this group was several times interrupted while the industrial and public utilities were advancing. However, between the end of October and the beginning of the second week in November, the rails advanced an average of about 6 points. Then they dropped back to the same level as that reached on the last business day of October. Unlike the industrial there were heavier transactions while this group was cooling than when it was advancing. In the second, or falling price period, a number of railroad stocks reached the lowest quotations of the year. It may be said that this group's average was affected considerably by the persistent weakness in New York Central and that the total transactions in rails were swelled by the unusual daily turnover in this stock.

The public utilities have followed the industrial more than the rails. As in the case of the other two groups their average price, which went up 5 points from the end of October to Nov. 9, subsequently dropped back to about the same figure as that at which it had started. Trading in the public utilities was materially larger while prices were advancing than when they were declining.

Within this group there have also been new low prices for the year. Western Union has occupied about the same relation to the other members of the public utility list as has New York Central to the rails.

See Dull Movement

With the market in such remarkable balance and speculative interests becoming smaller, instead of expanding as the week drew to a close, it is the feeling in Wall Street that the next six weeks will witness a dull and irregular movement in stocks as a whole. There is not much in sight to relieve the situation or to encourage speculation in either direction. While there are undoubtedly weak positions in certain industrial and public utility stocks and the influence of rather immediate dividends may be heard from individuals or railroad shares, it is the common belief of experienced men in the financial district that the market has been liquidated.

BOTTLES EXPLODE, POLICE MOP FLOOR, CHARGES DROPPED

Hyaterra, Md. —(AP)—The police figured they had a grand case against Arthur Ball. Eighteen bottles of allegedly too powerful beer, found in his home, were brought to the police station as evidence. Just before the case could be heard the bottles exploded. State's attorney Alan Bowie nolle prossed the whole business, while policemen mopped the floor and Mr. Ball went home.

Updated of its speculative commitments.

For several weeks there have been only dribbling sales of securities for the account of banks. The market has reflected quite definitely the falling off in the number of bank failures. These were reported by "Bradstreet's" today as numbering only 26, compared with 53 in the previous week and 57 in the last week of October. Against over 500 banks that failed in October, the November estimate is for less than one-third that number.

There is a very direct connection between this improved banking situation and the present degree of stability in securities.

Comparing the three groups of stocks with average low prices in 1930, it will be found that the industrial are about 52 points below the minimum last year and the rails are 50 per cent under the low of 1930, while the current public utility average makes the best showing in a shrinkage of only 15 points from the 1930 minimum. Compared with their high of 1929, industrials are off an average of 276 points or 73 per cent, rails an average of 144 points or 70 per cent and public utilities an average of 104 points or nearly 80 per cent.

Ohio Broadcasts Tribute To Memory Of Garfield

Hiram, Ohio.—(AP)—Ohio broadcast to the nation today a memorial to one of the state's most distinguished sons.

It was the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of James Abram Garfield, twentieth president of the United States. Speakers here and in Cleveland recalled the tragic days in 1881 through which the nation waited for word from the bedside of the president in Elberon, N. J., where he lay mortally wounded from an assassin's bullet.

Clevelanders recalled the solemn procession to the public square and lakeview cemetery where a high stone tower stands to his memory. Happier days of the president's life also were brought to mind—when as a boy he waded in the streams around his birthplace in Orange township, Cuyahoga-co., and of hard work to help his widowed mother of blighted ambitions to sail the Great Lakes, and of long trips as a boatman along the old Ohio-Pennsylvania canal.

The days in Hiram were some of the most important in his life. He came here at 20 to attend the Western Reserve Eclectic institute, as Hiram college was then known, and six years later he was president of the institution.

It was the citizens of this region who elected Garfield to the state senate and congress, and who bade farewell to him as he joined the Union army in the Civil war, from which he returned as a general.

Some old settlers still could recall him today as a man with heavy black moustache and beard and with towering strength.

His house on N. Campus-st where he "set up housekeeping" with his young bride is one of the historic sights of the town. High spots in the memorial services, attended by the president's kin, were the address at Hiram college by Henry Augustus Garfield, president of Williams college, in eulogy to his distinguished father, services at the Garfield memorial church near the birthplace, and the placing of a boulder on the 4-acre plot marking the birthplace.

THE "SPONGE" SQUAD
Indianapolis, Ind.—This city has an intelligent liquor squad. When John Jackson, negro, was being chased for the possession of corn liquor, he hurled a package of bottles on the ground, smashing them and spilling their contents over the sidewalk. Using a handkerchief, each policeman "sponged" up part of the liquor. They squeezed enough in a bottle to make a half-pint. This was analyzed and Jackson was arrested on the results.

SHILLING ON DEPOSIT 1,500 YEARS WOULD BECOME REAL MONEY

Council Bluffs, Iowa.—(AP)—Last Sunday an Omaha newspaper told about Dr. Leopold Bauer of Austria, depositing a shilling in the Bank of England, at London, with instructions that his will would contain the provision that the shilling was to remain in the bank at interest for 1,500 years.

Then, wrote Dr. Bauer, the bank was to step out and "buy the American continent and a few other things it might want."

The idea intrigued E. V. Gustafson, former Council Bluffs city clerk, and he immediately went into a huddle with himself. Gustafson emerged from the huddle last night and delivered the information that at the end of 1,500 years, supposing the shilling to be worth 25 cents and the interest 5 per cent and compounded semi-annually the total deposit would be four thousand five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, eight hundred and seventy-two cents, three hundred and eleven quadrillion, seven hundred and sixty-four trillion, eight hundred and ninety-six billion, three hundred and nine million, five hundred and ninety thousand, three hundred and twenty-three dollars and twenty cents.

EXPECT SNOWDEN WILL GET PEERAGE IN GREAT BRITAIN

Say Title of Fragile Yorkshireman Will Sound Odd to English

London (P. — "Lord Snowden" will sound odd to British ears. Whether the grim-willed, fragile Yorkshireman who has been England's chancellor of the exchequer through a troubled time will take a peerage can't be told until it's done.

But that is England's expectation and the rumor goes undented. Seven other men, in the last 100 years, have stepped from his post into the House of Lords. Whatever happens, Philip Snowden has closed a chapter in his career. He took no part in the campaign and made only one or two of his trenchant comments. But the labor party has been his career, ever since he made his first fiery speech in 1896 in the house of commons.

mons and it seems impossible that his interest in politics could die. The truth probably is that his wracked body could no longer endure the strain of parliamentary life in the commons. One of the party fathers, it would be impossible for him to take a passive part. But in the house of lords he still can be a force in English life when he wishes, and yet not be called upon for strenuous effort. And labor needs stronger representatives in the upper house.

Snowden—and Mrs. Snowden—have a few private interests, hobbies they might be called in others, among them a state-supported opera, which he will be free to push now.

Fischer, (Ripon)	RT
Jordan, (Carroll)	QB
Meyer, (Lawrence)	RB
Lund, (Lawrence)	LB
Fend, (Beloit)	RR
Jones, (Beloit)	FB

LACING five men on each team, the Ripon college Redmen predominate the personnel of the Big Four conference all-star first and second teams as selected by coaches of the state college league.

Beloit, Carroll, and Lawrence each placed four on the two teams. Beloit was awarded two berths on each team and Lawrence one on the first and three on the second. Carroll, despite a poor season in which it failed to win a single conference game, placed three on the first team to run second to Ripon, champions of the conference.

Anderson Captain
Ripon Anderson, captain and full-back of Ripon Redmen, was the only unanimous choice of conference coaches. His teammates, Larry Steinman, Eugene end, and two Beloit stars, Fitzgerald and Saar, each missed a unanimous vote by one point. Anderson was awarded the captaincy of the all-star team by virtue of the signal honor accorded him by Big Four coaches.

Three of the 1931 all-conference nominees won similar distinction last season. Clyde Gallup, Lake Mills, star Carroll tackle, and Runo Anderson, Minneapolis, succeeded themselves as members of the all-star team, while Henry Otter, Fond du Lac, pioneer quarterback, was promoted from the second to the first team. Dudley Porter, Beloit captain and halfback who placed on the second team in 1930, failed to receive a single vote this year.

A close race for backfield honors was waged between Otter of Carroll, Holmes of Ripon, and Fend of Lawrence, the latter losing his decision to Holmes and Otter by a one-point margin. Meyer of Ripon, Lund second team nominee, ran poor second to Anderson and Fitzgerald, of Lawrence, and Jones of Beloit, and the above trio.

THREE MITT TITLES ON BLOCK TOMORROW

New York—(AP)—A real championship battle was in sight today as Tony Canzoneri and Kid Chocolate waited for their 25-round fight in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night when they see three titles go on the block.

Tony holds the synthetic junior welterweight crown as well as the lightweight title which is the real object of the battle and will risk them both. In return it seems likely that he will get a chance at the rubber lightweight championship which Kid Chocolate won from Benny Bass a short time ago.

GLENN WRIGHT WILL RETURN TO DODGERS

New York—(AP)—Good news has come for Brooklyn baseball fans and for Max Carey, upon whose shoulder rests the hope of turning the team into a winner next season. Glenn Wright reports that his weak ankles are becoming strong again and that Brooklyn can count on him to lead down the shortstop berth.

Paul said Manager Carey yesterday is the best news I have had in a long time. Wright is the man of the hour. Wright has been following a special course of treatment for his weak ankles, exercising on a device that resembles the top of a golf club, standing on both sides.

John V. Sholes, Seattle, 1930 and 1931 Washington state amateur golf champion, has entered the University of Washington. He was a student at Dartmouth last year.

Finish Second in Valley Grid Conference

Appleton high school football team will wind up the 1931 season this evening when members are entertained by the Girls Athletic association at the annual football banquet at Hotel Appleton. School officials will be speakers.

The Orange this fall went through the season with four wins, two ties and one defeat in conference circles.

West Green Bay was the only conference team to beat the Appleton squad. In non-conference competition the team lost to Stevens Point and beat Kaukauna in a charity game.

Members of the squad shown above are Lower row, left to right, Ogilvie, manager, Frank, Verrier, Dietrich, Krohn, Bauer, manager, second row, Tillman, Kreick, Bowlers, Schult, Merrifield, Beck, Weber, Schult; third row, Klein, Salm, Neller, Standing in rear, Ruppel, Burke, Keller, Reitzner, Coach Shields, Egesing, Dean, Burton, Morrell.

Go to a baseball game and you'll find the average fan knows every player, can watch every move, every action and knows every play (or thinks he does).

In football the average fan knows one or two players—the fellow who carries the ball the most or who makes a long run or the rest of the boys are lost in the shuffle. And as for the visitors, well, if a program isn't issued in which the numbers and names are given, the visiting players might just as well be so many posts. It certainly isn't complimentary to the visitor, either.

Certainly some radio supply company would just as soon install the loudspeaker for the advertising it would get during the game. But we ask that the announcing be done from the sidelines where the announcer moves along with play, the "mike" in his hand and where he can observe accurately.

As far as press accommodations at Whiting field are concerned they are far from comfortable now but are an improvement over former years and over those of other grids. The crowd could be enlarged, however, with no trouble at all, and perhaps fixed so that the rain and snow will stay out or at least off typewriters and pads, should the scribes find them necessary.

I snitched this from Ralph Cannon's column in the Chicago Daily News the other day: Sid Gilman, Ohio end who blocked the first kick in the Wisconsin game, is a whizz on the piano. They say Gil Berry is partially color-blind, and that's why he threw the ball to a Maroon for the winning touchdown. . . . Lew Hinchman, Buckeye back, discarded the mechanical brace for his slipping knee on Wednesday's scrimmage before the Badger game, and played for the first time this year without it in the game. . . . Dick Fencil, Northwestern end, once planned to study for the priesthood. . . . An apt idea for an alumni gift to an incoming class at one of the schools was a $10,000 life-insurance policy for the benefit of his wife. . . . John Schommer keeps a very methodical diary. . . . Sam Villars was a great hunter and angler and wanted to go on an expedition with one of these newspaper hunting and fishing editors. . . . Joe Kurth, Notre Dame's All-American tackle, is the youngest of twelve children. The Kurths, formerly of Madison but now of Los Angeles had eight girls and four boys. Marchmont, Schwartz's folks would not permit him to play football in high school until the local coach came to his rescue and won them over. He pays a visit to the Sacred Heart church immediately after each home game. . . . Al Culver, whose father is a prominent Northwestern alumnus, has worn the same hat around the campus for two years. "I'm going to keep it until we lose," he says. Les Gage, formerly of Wisconsin is the proud papa of a seven-pound-two-ounce little girl named Elizabeth Janice Gage.

LEVINSKY, PRIMO BATTLE TONIGHT

Carnera, Because of Weight Advantage, Is 3 to 1 Favorite

Chicago—(AP)—King Levinsky, Chicago's fighting fish peddler, goes angling for the largest catch in boxing's big pool tonight by engaging the man mountain from Italy, Primo Carnera, in the 16 round feature battle at the Chicago Stadium.

The struggle was one of the all to win and nothing to lose ventures for Levinsky, whose furious, unorthodox attack has made him one of the real trial horses of the ring. Carnera, aided by a weight advantage of a mere 60 pounds or more, was a 3 to 1 favorite although the King, Fish's friends were confident he would topple the big Italian behemoth with a knockout.

"DUFFER" TO GET HIS DAY WITH GOLF GROUP

New York—(AP)—The golf "dub" who does most of the playing but usually has little to say about how the game is conducted, appeared today to have his day when the executive committee of the United States Golf association holds its quarterly meeting today.

The wall of the dub about the "balloon ball," the much discussed and abused 135-165 sphere has been heard and the committee which was given the task of selecting a successor which would suit the ordinary player is to report today. The ball which has been selected combines the size of the "balloon" ball and the weight of its predecessor. It is to be 1.65 inches in diameter and weigh 1.62 ounces. If the ball is accepted, and it seems likely that it will be, it probably will become "official" the first of the year.

WOLVERINES SEEKING BASKETBALL GAMES

The Wolverine basketball team of the Y. M. C. A. Order Boy league is seeking a couple practice games before the regular season gets under way. The team shows such cagers as Eddie Sanders, Frank Dean, Bob Shannon and Gordon Slattery. Teams wanting games should call George Retson at 299 after 5 o'clock in the evening.

Wright has been following a special course of treatment for his weak ankles, exercising on a device that resembles the top of a golf club, standing on both sides.

CARROLL CAGERS SEE GREAT SEASON

Pioneers Have Vander Muelen, Hinkley, Clarkson Returning

Waukegan—Though Carroll college proved to be the weak sister of the Big Four conference in football this season, it plans to open as offensive on the basketball court. It will bowl over opponents as easily as the Pioneers did last year with such star cagers as Capt. Stretch Vander Muelen, Don Hinkley, Paul Clarkson and Hank Ottery. They are Carroll's hope for retaining the Big Four title.

Coach Vince Batha, who had the football coaching job, will continue as cager coach, succeeding Maj. Ralph Kenney. Batha has the task of filling a guard berth left vacant by the graduation of Clifford Goerke, one of the college's best guards. Leslie Smith and James Bruinooge have also graduated.

Badger Game Dropped
The Pioneers expected to play the Wisconsin Badgers again this year in one of the outstanding games of the season, but the tilt was dropped for no apparent reason.

The season, which starts Dec. 21, is not without its hard games. In the opening game here Cornell college will be the opponent. Loyola, Monmouth, Lake Forest and Chicago Y. M. C. A. are on the schedule besides the Big Four teams, Lawrence, Beloit and Ripon.

To aid the two Chicago stars, Hinkley and Vander Muelen, Batha is counting on Dillingoski, guard; Jansen and Evert, forwards; Jens, former Shorewood High school star; Konz, Jonson, Ottery and Clarkson. After the first semester the eligibility of Collen, Breen, Reuter and Wabsch may change the regular lineup some.

BLUE STREAKS WILL PLAY 1ST GAME HERE

West Bend, One of New Clubs in Loop, to Show on Dec. 20

Appleton Blue Streak hockey team, with the good grace of the weather man, will play its first home hockey game, Dec. 20, with West Bend, according to a schedule arranged at the Fox River Valley league meeting a few days ago. The game will be a conference contest. On the same day Manitowoc will play at Fond du Lac and Neenah at Oshkosh. The winner of the league title will represent the valley in state tournament play.

The Blue Streaks will have a veteran outfit again this season. It is said, with all of last year's team returning. Last season the club cleaned up in the Valley and lost one game to Wausau and tied the Lumbards in another.

Ganks again will be played on Jones park rink, the city having promised to improve the rink site used last year. John Roach again will manage and coach the Appleton sextet.

Sports Question Box

Q. Did the National League ever play more than one dividend season?
A. No. Just one in 1892.

Q. Which is easier for a team to learn, the Notre Dame attack or the Stanford double wingback?
A. Notre Dame is easier to learn superficially but it is about as hard as any attack there is to make it click at high efficiency.

Q. Was the late Charles A. Comiskey a good ball player?
A. Yes. He revolutionized the art of playing first base.

First game and a 235 by Sternagel and 291 by G. Smith in the second. Natchrop helped the Machine take three games from the Office quintet. He rolled 137 in the first game, 200 in the second and 181 in the third. His series was 588. Schmidt was high for the Office with 168, 195, 170, —533.

In the third match Construction team won three from the Digesters who failed to appear.

Blocking Will Decide The U.S.C.-Notre Dame Game

BY FRANCIS J. POWERS Copyright, 1931

Chicago—(CPA)—It will be one great blocking team against another when Southern California and Notre Dame come to grips on the plains of Indiana Saturday. El Trojan has learned the tremendous value of powerful blockers (shall we say Notre Dame?), and this year Howard Jones has developed several specialists in the business of clearing paths for ball carriers.

In Arnie Pinckert, Southern California has one of the best blocking backs in the game today; some go so far as to say he is without a peer and the nearest equal to Marty Brill that can be found. Pinckert has been a splendid block for two seasons, but this fall he has surpassed all previous efforts. A capable aide to Pinckert has been found in Tom Mallory, and when those two are in the backfield it is most difficult to halt the Trojan offense.

Pinckert is expert in all sorts of blocking. Shoulder, hip, body and reverse hip and body blocks, he can execute them all with power and precision. Pinckert's blocking against Stanford was sensational. His shoulder blocking was devastating against the Cardinal linemen and in the open field his body and reverse blocks removed many a would-be tackler from the paths of Orville Mohler and Gaus Shaver.

Mallory is not Pinckert's equal in blocking, but he is far above the ordinary. He is a specialist in the Trojan's terror to opponents, Mohler, but he, too, can block effectively and in the Stanford game his frog block helped Shaver on a run to the Cardinals' 10 yard line. A few minutes later Shaver blocked out of the safety man so Mohler could ramble to a touchdown. Ey and large Southern California is well equipped with blockers.

No Marty Brill
Notre Dame, of course, is not without its usual high-powered blocker. Obviously it has no back who can block with the rugged power of Marty Brill, but Joe Sheeketski and Charlie Jaskwich have been doing a good job over the season and substituting fine backs for strength. Charlie Schwartz also is a capable blocker while Nordoff Hoffman is a human tank when he comes out of the line to lead a play. Notre Dame is famous for the precision of its blocking, so until the power of the Trojans has been offered for comparison most football followers east of the Rockies will string along with the Irish block. This much is certain, however, Southern California will display better blocking than last year.

Heartley Anderson and his assistants are busy this week, building a defense for Orv Mohler. Notre Dame has encountered no back this season with the speed and elusiveness of the Trojan. Possessed of a fine change of pace, he is a phantom in the open and difficult to tackle. Stanford ripped two of Mohler's jerseys to shreds, broke the lacings in his shoulder pads and wrecked a pair of pants, but Orv managed to retain his shoes and kept right on running. Mohler did little against Notre Dame in 1930, but on a dry field the Irish are able to get plenty of him Saturday.

Without the usual boast of heraldry, Southern California is sending a team east that many believe to be the best of all Trojan squads. It has a great backfield, with Jim Musick and Barber supplying the power needed to give deception to the running plays of Shaver, Mohler and Clark and a versatile attack. The line is fast and powerful and well fortified with substitutes. Sparr and Arndt are a fine pair of line ends and Capt. Stan Williamson is one of the ranking centers of the season. Baker, the running guard, is a three-year veteran, and Brown, Stevens and Smith round out a fine forward wall.

If Notre Dame is to meet with defeat this season, Southern California appears to be the team that will administer the better compound.

DONIE BUSH MAY GET MAJOR LEAGUE JOB

Chicago—(AP)—Donie Bush, erstwhile manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Chicago White Sox, may pilot another major league club next season.

The fiery little Irishman was offered the managership of the Minneapolis club of the American association yesterday but said he had two managerial offers from major league clubs, which he desired to consider first.

He refused to divulge the offers, although one was reported to have been made by Detroit, where he starred in his playing days.

The largest squad in the history of boxing at Alabama answered the first call to practice with 81 men present.

80 Seek Job as Pirate Boss

Pittsburgh, (AP)—Here is one of the reasons why it is taking over a year to find a manager for the Pittsburgh Pirates: Eighty men are after the job.

Dreyfuss said all have applied in writing for the place made vacant with the release of manager Jewel Ems and he is considering the letters carefully, one by one.

The Pirates boss said he doubted whether he would be able to make his selection before the league meetings next month as he wants to talk personally with at least half a dozen of the applicants.

CUB MASTER MINDS IN SECRET MEETING

Chicago—(AP)—The two master minds of the Chicago Cubs, President William L. Veeck and Manager Rogers Hornsby, opened their series of secret conferences today to discover ways and means of producing a National league pennant winner for 1932.

President Veeck made a tour of the east last week searching for deals and several were reported in the making. It was known that Ed Brandt, star Boston pitcher, was one of those sought to wear a Cub uniform.

Hornsby arrived yesterday and spent most of his time conferring with American association club owners.

AMATEUR FIGHTERS SEEK STATE TITLE

Winner of Zep Traurig-Joej Biebls Fight Will Claim Crown

THE CARD
Zep Traurig, Manitowoc vs. Joej Biebls, Oshkosh.

Hank Rasmussen, Appleton vs. Bob Worthington, Fond du Lac.

Elmer Zimmerman, Fond du Lac vs. Ed Hoerning, New London.

Rosey Rankin, Appleton vs. Johnnie Kalsous, Berlin.

Phil Dobbins, Oshkosh vs. Bobby Sadler, Fond du Lac.

Bob Goodrich, Appleton vs. Babe Murphy, Appleton.

A fight for the 122 pound championship of the state will feature tonight's amateur fight card at the Armory. The principals will be Zep Traurig, popular Little Manitowoc fighter, and Joej Biebls, Oshkosh, an up and coming youngster. Their fight is the windup of tonight's card.

Traurig has been defeated only by Max Maker and Julius Cohen during the last couple years. Both boys have turned pro and that leaves Traurig the logical successor. Joej Biebls is his first challenger.

Four Appleton fighters also will show tonight. They are Hank Rasmussen who lives here but who also hails from Racine, Rosey Rankin who is making his debut as a fighter, and Bob Goodrich and Babe Murphy. The latter two boys will meet each other.

HOLD SEMI-FINALS OF BOXING TOURNEY

Midwaukee—(AP)—Four outstanding boxers will display their fists tonight in the National Boxing association's semi-finals of an elimination tournament to decide a successor to Mickey Walker, retired world's middleweight champion.

Gorilla Jones, Akron, Ohio, Negro and Frankie O'Brien, Hartford, Conn., southpaws, are paired in the windup event. Oddone Piazza, champion of Italy, and Henry Firpo, of New Castle, Pa., will appear in the other half of the main bill.

The two survivors are scheduled to meet Nov. 30 in the tourney final when a new champion will be crowned. Recognition as champion will be accorded the winner in 36 states.

Jones, listed as No. 1 in N. E. A. middleweight rankings, won his way to the semi-finals by beating Tiger Thomas, Clyde Chastain and George Nichols. The Hartford fighter established himself as a favorite by eliminating Jack McVey and Angel Chivelle, the latter having knocked out Frankie Battaglia and Earl Littman in previous tourney matches.

NOTRE DAME PLANS PASS OFFENSE FOR TROJAN GRIDDERS

George Melinkovich Will Be Available at Fullback Position

BY PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO—(AP)—Southern California's invading Trojans can expect a dazzling counter attack of forward passes Saturday when they storm the football citadel of old Notre Dame.

For years, the impression has prevailed in the camp of the South Bend raiders that the aerial attack is the chief ground gaining weapon against the Trojans and this year is no exception. Coach Hooty "Hunk" Anderson, bounteously equipped with tossers, expects to start throwing passes from the start of the battle.

Several new aerial plays have been given to the backfield men while considerable attention has been paid to a line man named Ed Krause. Those who have watched Krause come out of the line in practice and heave the leather 60 to 75 yards predicted a rival even for the great "Brick" Muller of California fame.

Pass Attack Impressive
So far this season, except in the battle against the Panthers from Pittsburgh, the Notre Dame running attack has been more than sufficient. But against the Panthers, the pass attack was flashed impressively for only a few minutes and it was enough.

Although Coach Anderson wore a worried expression as the game neared today, Notre Dame's hopes of repelling the Trojan invasion bounded upward. George Melinkovich, first string fullback who was injured during the Navy game, was back in uniform and will be ready if worst comes to the worst Saturday. Meanwhile, Coach Anderson shifted his lineup to obtain greater speed under punts and better blocking. Active

OPEN SALES SCHOOLS IN 5 BADGER CITIES

Madison—(AP)—School opens next week for sales people in five eastern Wisconsin cities who have enrolled in classes in retail selling conducted jointly by the University of Wisconsin Extension division and the local vocational schools.

The schedule, which was announced today by Miss Florence A. Warfield, extension division instructor, who will conduct the course, follows: Sheboygan, Monday; Kenosha, Tuesday; Shorewood, Wednesday; Fond du Lac, Thursday; and Waukesha, Friday. This alignment will be repeated each week for six weeks.

The curriculum will include such subjects as means of increasing sales, opening the sale, knowing one's merchandise, finding the selling points, making the sales talk effective and closing the sale.

scrimmage was called off so as to preclude any more injuries.

Expect Sell Out
There were still about 12,000 tickets left to be sold today but the ticket managers were certain of a sell-out crowd of 55,000 for the game in Notre Dame's new brick stadium.

Forward passes also received considerable attention around the Big Ten camps today as the rival eleven made final preparations for Saturday's important engagements. In almost every camp, the coaches were busily devising offensive or defensive plays for the aerial attack.

Northwestern's tired Wildcats appeared fit and ready again to carry on toward their Big Ten championship goal. One of the most spirited drills of the season was held last night in preparation for the Iowa game, the last obstacle between the Wildcats and the title in regulation season's play.

Major Rivalry In Minors Should Prove Interesting

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
Copyright, 1931

NEW YORK—(CFA)—The purchase of the Newark club by the New York Americans develops a new situation of major league rivalry in the International league for 1932 and its general effect will be apparent as another season begins.

The Rochester club is a subsidiary of the St. Louis National league club, using such players as the St. Louis management transfers to it. For three seasons Rochester has won the championship of the league, playing afterward in the junior world series against the champions of the American association.

Newark now becomes a direct subsidiary of the Yankees. Thus the American league through New York and Newark will be an indirect and strong opponent of National league influence in Rochester.

Out of this the International league is likely to profit in good baseball. Combined with the present players of the Newark club, the Yankees are in capital position to transfer some of their promising talent to the International league for another season's schooling. It has been the steady policy of St. Louis to assist Rochester with young players and with experienced players.

The Reading club has been controlled directly by the Chicago Nationals. Chicago did not enter very extensively into the method of moving players back and forth. Reading developed a few players for the Cubs and some of the Chicago players who were sent to Reading were permitted to go elsewhere.

Oracles Close to Marks
Baltimore is close to the Athletics but not owned by them. Brooklyn officials stated that Jersey City wished to sell a half interest to them in order that Jersey City might gather the surplus players from Brooklyn. Jersey City has declared its desire to operate as an independent.

Detroit and Toronto are allies. Montreal and Buffalo have not been directly aligned with any major team.

With St. Louis in Rochester, Brooklyn in Jersey City and Chicago in Reading, the National league will have three working allies in the International. With New York in Newark, Detroit in Toronto and Baltimore allied to Philadelphia rather closely—although Baltimore has also shown a desire to deal with Washington—the American league will have a powerful influence in three other clubs. This leaves Montreal and Buffalo as independents.

Montreal has dealt with the Boston Nationals although the team is not owned in any part by major league capital.

Naturally if the National and the American leagues become directly interested in clubs in the International league, they will carry their league ambitions and policies with them. In case of a division on any measure of general importance which has to do with major and minor policies, the league interests appear to be equally divided, with

Arlen Says Marriage Has His Whole-Hearted "Okay"

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
(Copyright 1931, by Cons. Press)
Hollywood—(CFA)—"When a man gets nerves he goes fishing and when a woman gets nerves she goes shopping," remarked Richard Arlen; just before he leaped aboard the train for New York, "and it does them each a lot of good. I'm for both sports, though I think shopping's harder."

The subject had come up apropos of the three months which Arlen will spend at the movie studios in Astoria, Jobyna, who has had a yacht named for her and who is Mrs. Richard Arlen, was going along. Jobyna was all pepped up over the idea of a shopping fiesta in the empire city, as New York is laughingly known to his friends.

"The fellow seems to be something awfully soothing to a woman's mind," Arlen explained. "A man wouldn't think of calming his nerves by hunting new neckties or shoes but if a woman can take a day off and gallop round the shops she comes home persaps a trifle tired but immensely benefited. I mean that, too. It really does save a beneficial effect, especially if she's found a hat that was exactly what she wanted and more especially if it happened to be marked down."

"I think maybe women are more civilized than men. They take to civilization. They're more adaptable. They get more fun out of civilized pursuits. A man would have hysterics trying to match a ribbon to a piece of dress goods but a woman loves it. The average woman would rather spend a day shopping from ribbon counter to ribbon counter than go tuna fishing. And more power to her, say I."

You told him that fish smell terrible, anyhow.

"There you go," Arlen responded. "civilized as anything. And you're just about to say that tuna fishing requires more strength than the average woman possesses. All right, all right. Trot an average man around on a day's shopping tour and then tell me women are the weaker sex. I believe a lot of marriages have been broken up because a man insisted on his wife tuna fishing when she ought to have been shopping and because a wife insisted on her husband shopping when he ought to have been tuna fishing. Or getting or whatever."

So you asked him what about his views on marriage. He and Jobyna are notoriously happy.

"My views on marriage change from time to time," Arlen admitted with a glance toward his wife's shopping list. "but I can say this much about it: marriage is also lovely O. K."

BUSINESS ON WAY BACK TO NORMAL
IN KEYSTONE STATE

General Improvement in Sentiment Is Reported in Pennsylvania

Harrisburg, Pa.—(AP)—Responding to state-wide cooperation and a general improvement in sentiment, business continues its gradual return to normal in Pennsylvania.

While the general assembly considers the $120,000,000 unemployment relief program submitted by Governor Pinchot and local welfare organizations are completing the collection of some $20,000,000 for normal and emergency funds, industries throughout the state are speeding up. Men are returning to work in groups of hundreds and the army of unemployed is slowly decreasing in size and gaining in morale.

The news which is lending confidence, both to the leaders and to the populace at large, is contained largely in reports of employment gains coming from all parts of the state. The following are representative of the developments of the last week:

Wilkes-Barre — Anthracite coal companies distribute largest weekly payroll in years, disbursing more than $1,000,000 to 25,000 employees in Luzerne-co alone.

Hazleton — Lehigh Valley Coal company resumes operations at Packer No. 5 mine, idle since June, 1930, calling back 200 men while other resumption in field return 300 more miners to work.

Franklin—Atlantic Refining company employs 100 additional men in its Franklin refineries.

Increasing Orders

Pittsburgh—H. J. Heinz company announces orders for this year to date in excess of same period last year; Pittsburgh department stores announce increasing sales; F. W. Dodge agency announces building construction in Pittsburgh and entire tristate district heavier than 1930; value of building permits in Pittsburgh in September increased 42 per cent over August of this year and 76 per cent over September of last year; operations of steel companies increase 3 to 10 per cent, chamber of commerce reports.

Butler—Frank E. Troutman, general manager of Standard Plate Glass company, announces that plant is employing 208 men on day and night shifts producing 10,000 square feet of glass daily.

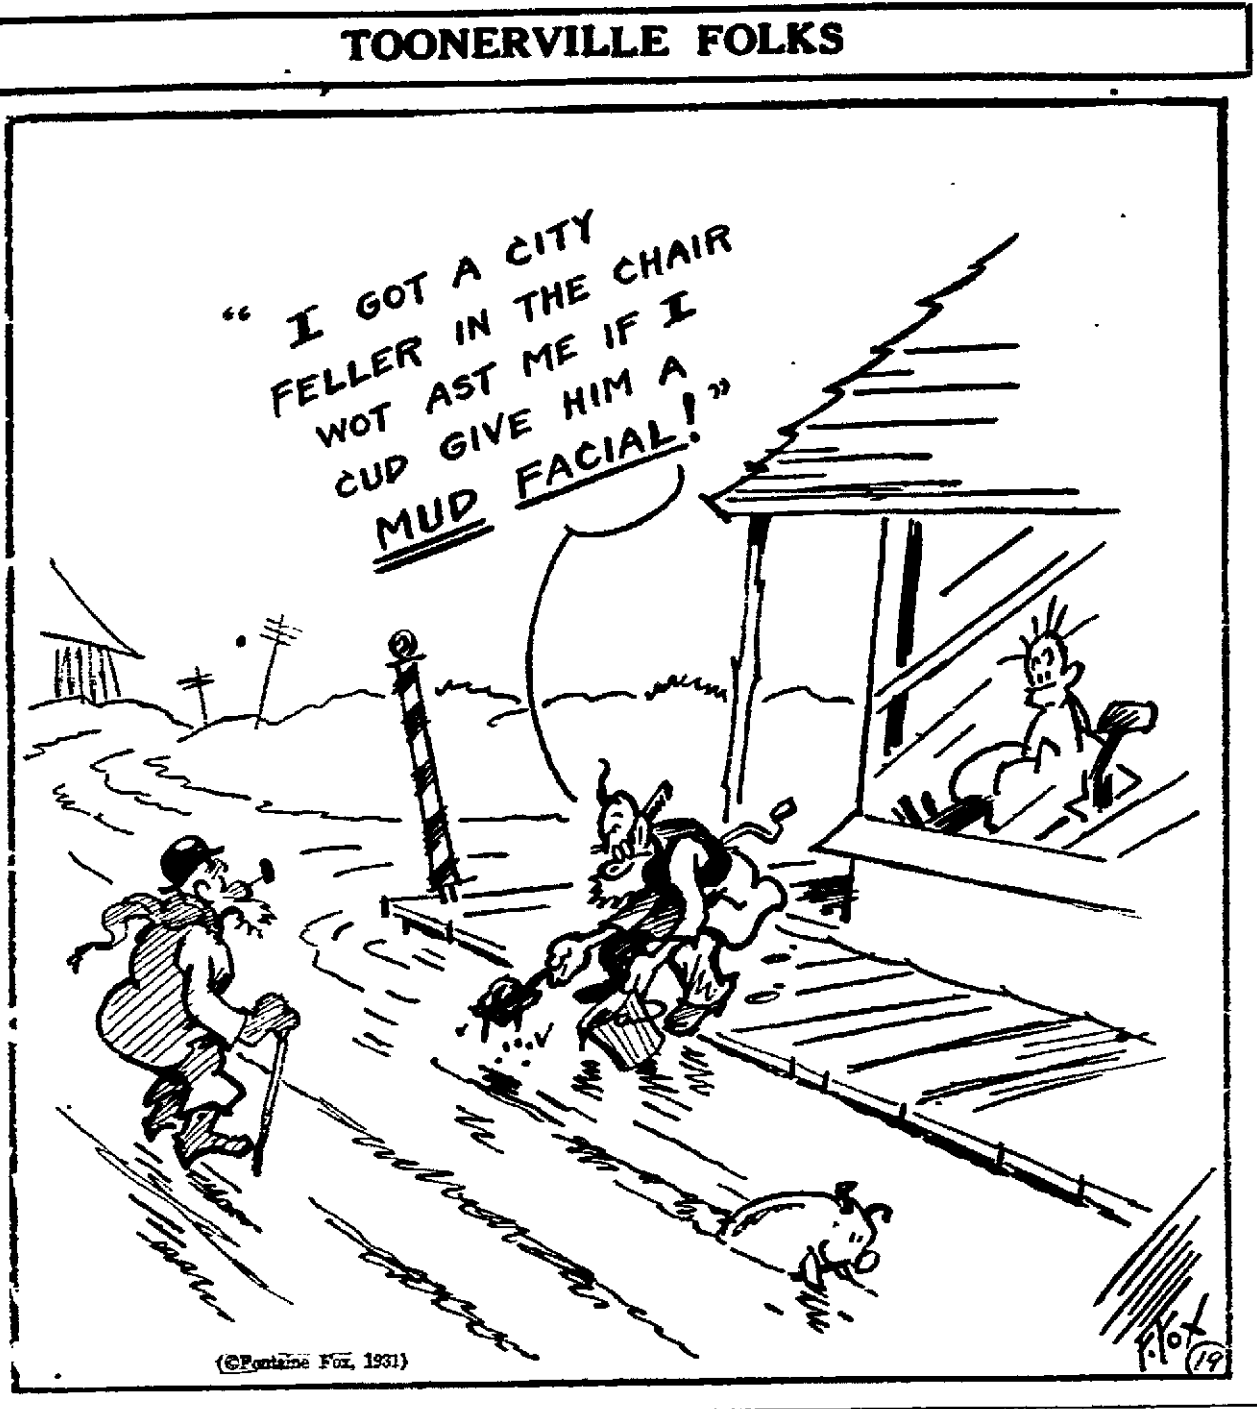

Homestead—Six plate mills and open hearth department of Homestead Steel Works resume, giving employment to several hundred men.

Bradock—Between 2,500 and 3,500 men return to work at Edgar Thomas plant of Carnegie Steel company; Union Car Wheel Works, subsidiary of United States Steel corporation, calls 100 men back to work.

Wilkes-Barre — Lehigh railroad company places orders for 20 high-speed locomotives to cost about $2,400,000.

Berwick — American Car and Foundry company to provide year's work for 1,500 men in filling $10,700,000 order for passenger cars for New York City subway system.

Coudersport — Intensive drilling operations follow when high-producing well is brought in, opening new natural gas field in Potter-co.

1,935 HANDICAPPED PERSONS GIVEN AID

Madison—(AP)—Wisconsin has returned 1,935 physically handicapped persons to lives of active employment and self-sustenance, W. F. Faulkes, state supervisor of vocational rehabilitation, has written in the November issue of the Journal of Education.

In a description of the state's rehabilitation program Mr. Faulkes recommended the establishment of schools for crippled children at Green Bay, Wausau, Superior and Racine. Madison has had such a school for several years.

Since 1921 when Wisconsin first received a $25,000 annual appropriation from the federal government a total of 8,761 persons have been aided by the state rehabilitation division and of this number 2,874 are now receiving treatment and instruction, Mr. Faulkes said.

ARRANGE PROGRAM FOR REGION SEVEN SCOUT CONFERENCE

Annual Assembly Scheduled for Dec. 2 at Chicago Hotel

Intensive plans are being developed for the participation of the valley council of boy scouts in the Annual Regional Assembly and Council Officers Training school of Region Seven at Edgewater Beach hotel in Chicago, Ill., Wednesday, Dec. 2, according to word received here by M. G. Clark, valley scout executive.

The regional assembly is called together each year in December for the 100 boy scout councils of Region seven, which includes the four states of Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan and Indiana.

This meeting is particularly a program for the lay members of scouting, council presidents, executive board members, members of district committees, commissioners, scoutmasters and other council members.

The assembly opens at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning and continues throughout the day, with inspirational addresses, sectional training meetings, regional reports, luncheon meeting, and culminates in the evening banquet.

The theme of the assembly this year

SMOOT TELLS ABOUT SYSTEM OF SALES TAX

Senator Says People Begin to See It as "Simplest and Sanest Tax"

BY DAVID LAWRENCE Copyright, 1931

Washington — President Hoover was urged Wednesday by Senator Smoot, chairman of the senate finance committee, to omit any specific taxation program from his message to congress and place upon the legislative body the responsibility of devising a plan to raise revenues.

Mr. Smoot thought that congressional sentiment was slowly but surely crystallizing on a sales tax plan.

"People who in 1924 opposed a sales tax," he said, "are coming around to it now as the simplest and sanest tax he could possibly have."

What Senator Smoot had in mind was that any detailed tax program, if outlined by the president, was doomed to counter-attack at this time and that the chief executive, after outlining the necessities of the fiscal situation, could very well leave to congress the task of reaching an agreement on the most effective plan. With the political parties about evenly divided in congress, neither leadership is ready to incur the antagonism that comes from tax revision and the prospects are that a bi-partisan understanding may have to be reached before any tax program can be put through.

The Democrats undoubtedly will have a program of their own to start with and so will the Republicans, but when the discussion is pretty well along a non-partisan bill will in all probability be adopted.

This has been the history of most of the tax legislation passed since the war.

Mr. Smoot is going to have a plan which will be in his judgment, an improvement on the scheme he offered in 1924.

Against Pyramiding

"My idea now," he said, "is to put the sales tax on the last sale so it will not be pyramided. In other words, a tax of 1 per cent would be levied on retail sales. This would exempt farm products. Revenue stamps would be affixed by the merchant and the treasury department could work out easily. I am sure, a system of collections from the merchants. In half the cases I believe the tax will never be passed on to the consumer. Thus in patent medicines, with a 50-cent bottle, a tax of 1 per cent would amount to a half cent. Now it is unlikely that the product would sell for fifty and a half cents. The half cent would be absorbed somewhere between the manufacturer and the consumer. But even if it were passed on to the consumer, it would not be felt as a burden, it is so slight and so evenly spread. Yet it is the greatest source of revenue we could possibly devise and may make it possible to rid ourselves of other inequitable forms of taxation."

When the Smoot sales tax was last voted on a few years ago, it received 25 votes in the senate out of 96, but the Utah senator thinks that today it would receive a much larger vote. It is unlikely that the president will commit himself to the principle of any particular form of taxation; though the treasury rather favors a reenactment of the 1924 law with some changes to suit changed conditions.

ADVOCATE MORE USE OF CANCER RELIEF

Madison—(P)—More extensive use of radiation treatments to relieve cancer victims of pain if not to cure them of the malady is advocated by Dr. E. A. Poble, professor of radiology at the University of Wisconsin.

Dr. Poble expressed the belief that many persons suffering from incurable cancer would be able to continue a normal life if they were subjected to moderate radiation treatments. He emphasized the necessity of surgical attention at the first manifestation of the disease if complete cure is to be effected.

"The trouble is that there are still many persons who fail to go to a physician at the first sign of this disease," he said. "Yet these same persons would hasten to a doctor for his advice when attacked with pain in the stomach. One of the most dangerous characteristics of cancer is the fact that a growth does not cause pain in the early stages."

Another Once-Plentiful Game Bird Now Extinct

BY B. A. CLARIN

In years gone by the elder duck was very plentiful. The wild pigeon at one time was so numerous that it is on record that flocks so immense as to require three days to pass a given point were not uncommon. But these two species are now extinct. And now we learn of the passing of another one-time plentiful game bird—the heath hen of Massachusetts. A lone cock bird of this variety has lived as the last specimen of his race for years on Martha's Vineyard Island. Attendants on this island report that he has not been seen since May 9. It is supposed therefore that he has passed on, thus placing the heath hen in the same category as the extinct passenger pigeon, the elder duck, the do do bird and others.

The heath hen is declared to be the outstanding wild-life martyr of all time. The wide publicity given the "last bird" has fired the imagination and aroused public interest in conservation as nothing else ever did. The passing of this bird has awakened sportsmen to the fact that other game birds will be in danger if we continue as we have in the past. Because of this awakening game research has splendid support in America today.

Had we known fifty years ago what we know today about diseases and parasites, methods of rearing grouse in captivity and various important facts concerning the biology of the grouse, the heath hen would undoubtedly have been saved from extinction. As it is, the heath hen has passed on, but in going has saved other species.

By offering a central clearing house where all the diversified game investigations may be coordinated, the annual American Game Conference has helped research workers to visualize the entire field and enabled them to fit each detail into the mosaic of the larger problem.

With the perfected facilities for studying the different kinds of wild game there is little reason for a single other species becoming extinct. Nor should it be allowed to occur, even though all further shooting of any declining bird or animal be stopped immediately and for all time.

Speaking of the passenger pigeon, now extinct, along about 1936 I am told the last struggling flocks of these birds drove down the western shore of Green Bay, stopping temporarily in what was then known as "Elmore's Grove, and then passing along to the Pines," now Joannes Park. From there they continued southward through the Fox River Valley.

Previous to that time they were not only shot by thousands but they were trapped in nets. As many as several hundred were so taken in a single net. They were packed in barrels and shipped to the markets in Chicago. On certain occasions railroad express cars were practically filled with the barrels of birds. It was not even dreamed that these fine birds would ever become scarce, much less become exterminated.

600 for Commander Byrd. Similarly, he fixed up Dr. Christian F. Reiser with a $75,000 beacon for his skyscraper church. Nobody could buy when Bob was around. At frequent intervals he organized $50,000,000 corporations. Then, early in 1930, with the New York Better Business bureau sniffing at Mr. Bob's affairs, he hoped a plane and waited himself to Mexico. He returned to a dispiriting tangle of law suits and prosecutions, but organized another $50,000,000 corporation and is probably at work on it during these fateful hours of jury argument.

Ethel Leginska made a brilliant psychic get-away, a few years ago. "Piano playing is school girl stuff—I want to conduct," she said. At this time she was in a bad tangle of nerves, leaving audiences waiting and turning up in another town a few days later. Last night, back in New York, she wielded a magic baton on Von Suppe's venerable "Bocaccio," was loudly acclaimed and shook her bobbed hair triumphantly at the old heebie-jeebies.

She was Ethel Leginska of Hull, England, a poor girl, walking four miles to her music lessons, with only six weeks' schooling. A wealthy patron sent her to Germany. She was a brilliant success on the concert stage. For years she suffered from a feeling of deep frustration. She yearned to get hold of a baton. In 1927, after she had walked out on the piano, she conducted the Boston Philharmonic, the first important performance to be led by a woman in America. She has been happy ever since. She is five feet tall, 37 years old and has a snug little cottage in Suffolk. Being British, she likes serviceability and has one specially tailored black velvet gown for all occasions.

KENTUCKY TO ASK DEATH SENTENCE IN MURDER TRIAL

Prosecution to Act Despite Failure to Sound Prospective Jurors

At the age of 77 when most men seek retirement, he is to assume the duties of a representative in the new congress.

Weeks was the first governor of Vermont since 1814 to serve for more than two years and the first governor to be elected since the biennial gubernatorial term was established in that state in 1876.

It was in this latter achievement that he broke "the mountain rule." Since the establishment of the two-year term Vermont had always made its green mountains a political dividing line.

One year the governor was chosen from west of the mountains and the next, from east of the range.

In 1928 Weeks defied the rule and was reelected.

DISPLAY 500 NEW CHILDREN'S BOOKS

Invite Public to Visit Junior Department of Public Library

With new books piled on every table, on every shelf, and trucked into corners and on window ledges, the children's department of the Appleton public library is "at home" to the public this week.

In observance of National Book week, 500 new books have been placed on display, and all particularly adults, are invited to come to the library this week and discover what is being done for the child reader.

In keeping with the slogan of National Book week, "Around the World in Books," Miss Margaret Grieron, children's librarian, has set up a huge globe of the world, topped by a miniature ship. The flags of all nations are exhibited on the main desk.

Among the new books the tray of new picture books is particularly appealing, both to children and adults. "Fanny and Peter, What They Did Today," by Lena Trowell, is a volume of actual photographs that will please anyone between six and sixty, and the "Picture Book of Animals" by Lord is just as attractive.

None of the 500 new books will be placed in circulation this week, and next week when they are distributed only one will be checked out to each child.

CLINTONVILLE MAN
SUCCUMBS AT IOLA

Lyle Penn, 40, Dies After Being Critically Ill for Week

Clintonville—Lyle Penn, 40, died Tuesday evening at the Iola hospital, where he had been critically ill for one week following an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Penn and family have lived in Clintonville for about one year. Mr. Penn was employed by the Urban Telephone Co. of this place.

The deceased was born Dec. 2, 1891, in Illinois, and came to Manawa, with his parents at an early age. There he attended the public school and graduated from Manawa high school. He was later married to Miss Ruth Goldsack of Shawano, after their marriage they lived at Palmyra, Tomah and Shawano, before coming to this city. At all of these places work. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge at Palmyra.

He is survived by his widow and two sons Jack and Richard of this city; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Penn of Manawa; two sisters, Mrs. Anna Pendleton of Tennessee and Gladys of California.

The body was taken to the home of his parents at Manawa, where funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. These will be followed by services in the Manawa Methodist church, where the Rev. W. C. Kurtz of this city, the Rev. Ellis of Manawa and the Rev. Wright formerly of Manawa, will officiate. Interment will be made at Shawano.

The funeral services were held here Tuesday afternoon for Selden Carpenter, 33, who died Saturday at the Municipal Sanitarium near there for the past four years. The body was brought to Clintonville Monday, to the home of his wife's mother, Mrs. H. Drephal, 121 Tenth-st. The funeral was conducted by the Rev. W. C. Kurtz at the home, and at the Methodist church. Burial was made in Graceland cemetery. Six members of Galesburg Woodman Lodge, to which the deceased belonged, acted as pall bearers. They were Howard Hurlbert, Mike McHugh, Joe Pools, Myron Ames, Lester Boman and Raymond Larson.

Born Feb. 4, 1898, near Leeman, Selden Carpenter spent his early life in this community. He was married July 7, 1926, to Miss Myrtle Nelson of Clintonville, after which they moved to Milwaukee.

Besides the widow of this city, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Eveline Carpenter of Leeman, two sisters, Miss Clement Carpenter and Mrs. Laurel Strong, two brothers Alpheus and Cecil Carpenter all of Leeman.

At a meeting of the Methodist Guild Tuesday afternoon in the church parlors, it was voted to hold a sale of Christmas novelties, cookies and candy on Nov. 23. Committees were appointed to take charge of the event. Following the business meeting a lunch was served by Mrs. Duncan Campbell and Mrs. A. W. Giersbach. The next Guild meeting will be Dec. 3, at which the hostesses will be Mrs. A. C. Fritz and Mrs. H. G. Engel.

Mrs. Frank Heibel was surprised by a group of friends Friday afternoon at her home, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. Three tables of cards were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Alfred Westor and Mrs. Matt Dahm, Sr.

Friends honored Mrs. Margaret Gray Tuesday afternoon, surprising her on her birthday anniversary. Nine women were present and were entertained at cards. Prizes went to Mrs. Matt Dahm, Sr. and Mrs. Fred Baerwald.

Miss Laura Rastler was hostess to members of Q. P. F. club at her home Monday evening. The time was spent informally and a lunch was served.

End Piles Quick
So Sores — No Cutting
Your itching, bleeding, protruding piles will go when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the weak, fatty parts—and not one minute before. Sores or soreness can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leachman, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record right in this city, that Schmitt Bros. say one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile agony or money back—adv.

TAKE BARGES, TUGS OFF RIVER, UNTIL SPRING

Fox River Navigation Co. to Retain Crew of Men for Repair Work

Kaukauna—All barges and tugs of the Fox River Navigation Co. have tied up for the winter, according to Ben Prugh, manager of the company here. The boats have piled between Green Bay and Kimberly, all summer, hauling coal for paper mills.

The tugs made 335 trips up the river since last spring. The barges are loaded at Green Bay and carry 400 tons each. The coal is hauled to the various paper mills.

While it is necessary to lay off some of the men employed on the boats, a crew will be maintained during the winter for the usual repairs. About 10 men will be employed repairing tugs. Two tugs, the Jane, and the George D. Ryan, will be overhauled. Three barges will be taken into the drydock for new planking. All of the work will be done at the local drydock near the boat house.

The barges which are still serviceable will be kept near the company office near the first government lock and others will be kept below the fifth lock. Tugs are always kept out of water during the winter months to prevent damage from ice.

Navigation on the lower river will close officially Nov. 30.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

A GAME THAT FAILED TO MATERIALIZE

The first hand dealt in the Anglo-American test match of 1930 was productive of some interesting bidding. This was the life of the cards: South—Dealer. Neither side vulnerable.

South West North East
Pass Pass Pass 10
14 INT 20 30
Pass SNT ?

and if North does not bid again game is assured. North, however, should now attempt a "sacrifice" bid of four clubs as, with the game at stake, risks must be taken to save it.

If we had bid three notrump we might well have "got away" with it, as our opponents might not have pictured the defense possibilities correctly.

At Table 1 (where America sat North and South), South, West and North all passed. This procedure is, of course, correct; none of them has a proper Opening bid. East opened (again correctly) with one diamond. The bidding, thus opened, continues as follows:

South West North East
Pass Pass Pass 10
14 INT 20 30
Pass Pass 44 Pass
Pass Pass

North thus secured the contract at four clubs and proceeded to make 9 tricks. A loss to America of 50 points.

At Table 2, (where America sat East and West) the hand was bid quite differently:

South West North East
Pass Pass 10 DBL
14 INT 34 30
Pass Pass Pass

Here, it will be seen, America again played the hand, this time in three diamonds. Four-odd were made, a gain of 110 points. America on balance was 60 points to the good.

What lesson (if any) can be learned from these results?

First, the sacrifice of 50 points at Table 1 was, as it turned out, justified. If North had not bid four clubs, her adversaries would have played the hand in three diamonds. And, as at Table 2, 110 points at least might well have been made.

Second, this four club bid is, none the less, open to argument. Though not likely, it is possible that adversaries have a game bid. If South's bid of a spade is weak or "psychic," East-West may have the material for four notrump. It may be dangerous to provoke a try for game where a non-game going bid can be left in.

PROFESSOR ESTIMATES STAR'S LIGHT PERIOD

Madison—(AP)—Six years are required for Betelgeuse, a giant red star, to change from utmost brightness to dullness to brightness, according to a study made by Prof. Joel Stebbins at the Washburn observatory at the University of Wisconsin.

Prof. Stebbins' research has in figures which are believed to set definitely at rest doubts as to the star's light period. He found that the period from brightness to dullness is just three years.

The intensity of the star's light was measured by a photoelectric cell capable of recording one hundredth of a millionth of a millionth of an ampere. The cell is attached to the observatory telescope so that the amount of current produced by the star is registered through its light on the cell.

Prof. C. M. Huffer has collaborated with Prof. Stebbins in the study of five stars, one of which is Betelgeuse. The others are AG Persei, RR Lyrae, H. R. 137, and Beta Lyrae. The light which reached the earth from AG Persei began its journey 170 years ago. The star is approximately 100 times brighter than the sun, but its distance from the earth makes it appear dim.

Prof. Huffer also studied the light of RR Lyrae which started its journey to the earth about 100 years ago, shortly after the American Revolution. This star is about 25 times brighter than the sun. Prof. Huffer said, "It is a pity that the stars occur every 10 days, so that we can observe them only once in 10 years."

BEGIN REMOVAL OF COFFER DAMS

Kaukauna—Workmen are removing the coffer dams from the site of the new dam across the Fox river here. All of the concrete on the dam has been poured and the work remaining to be done will be finished this week. A wall of loose stones will be built to replace the old retaining wall along the canal. About 40 men have been employed in construction of the dam. Several dredges and tugs were used in hauling and removing materials.

TO RELIEVE Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises.

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to Schmitz Bros. or your druggist, and get 1 oz. of Parmitin (Double Strength), and add to it a pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dripping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises, should give this prescription a trial.

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU "SCORPIO"

If November 21st is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 8:55 a. m. to 10 a. m. from 2:30 p. m. to 4 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 11:20 p. m. to 1 p. m. and from 1:20 p. m. to 6:30 p. m.

A favorable current of Fortune will be behind those who are starting out on the 1st of November. They will be successful in their efforts, and if they are able to push a higher peak than anticipated on the road to their success. Any transgression in the family is indicated. If a divorce is not a sudden amicable.

The children born on this November 15th will have imaginative restless natures and will be seekers of the light and of life. They will be organized and energetic. Fate will assist them in their efforts. They will be successful in their work.

You are not a very happy person; you are a born pessimist. You somehow are not able to find a mod for doing things. You are a very busy person, but you are not a very happy person. You are a very busy person, but you are not a very happy person. You are a very busy person, but you are not a very happy person.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare, costs little, and saves money, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the green-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe cough and bronchial irritation.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

WOMEN BOWLERS ON DRIVES TONIGHT

Kaukauna—Lady league bowlers will have exclusive use of Hugenberg alleys Thursday evening. Teams will roll in two shifts, one at 7 o'clock and the other at 9 o'clock. Holy Rollers meet Reggie's Specials and Tasty Lunches defend their position as league leaders against Lucky Strikes at seven o'clock. At 9 o'clock Pin Knockers and Hass Grocers will bowl.

LAY FORMS TO POUR CONCRETE FOR BUILDING

Kaukauna—Workmen are constructing forms for concrete work on the new warehouse at the Thillman Paper plant here. The warehouse will be of concrete and brick. It will be built by the Permanet Construction Co. About 40 men are employed on the project, which will be completed in about a month.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR CHARITY BALL

Kaukauna—Final plans for the annual charity ball of the Loyal Order of Moose lodge of this city were discussed at a meeting Tuesday evening. The dance will be held at the Nittingale ballroom Friday evening. Proceeds will be divided between the national organization and the local lodge for relief work. Tickets are being sold in a contest, with prizes for the members selling the largest number.

BEGIN REMOVAL OF COFFER DAMS

Kaukauna—Workmen are removing the coffer dams from the site of the new dam across the Fox river here. All of the concrete on the dam has been poured and the work remaining to be done will be finished this week. A wall of loose stones will be built to replace the old retaining wall along the canal. About 40 men have been employed in construction of the dam. Several dredges and tugs were used in hauling and removing materials.

TO RELIEVE Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises.

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to Schmitz Bros. or your druggist, and get 1 oz. of Parmitin (Double Strength), and add to it a pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dripping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises, should give this prescription a trial.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel your liver and bile are not working properly, you need a little help. Calomel is a powerful purgative, but it is not good for the liver. It is better to use a mild laxative that will keep the liver and bile working properly. Haug Super Service Station has a supply of these laxatives. They are made of natural ingredients and are safe for the whole family. They will keep you healthy and happy all year long.

LADY with a PAST

BY HARRIET HENRY

AN AFTERNOON OF SURPRISES

"Oh, Guy, nothing more to do with my humble self."

No. Purely in connection with my humble self."

"Oh, Well, I hope it's not too uncomfortable."

"So do I."

"Whatever do you mean? Stop for me at half-past seven, Guy?"

"Right."

Venice put down the receiver and glanced at her watch. Just time to get over to the Bankers' Trust before they closed. She hurried out to the back entrance in the Rue St. Honore. Two letters from Nolly and one from Lola written on the Laconia. Nolly's letters were postmarked a week apart. The operation must be over now. Venice eagerly opened the earlier one, reading as she walked back towards the Rue Mont-Thabor.

"August 11th

"Darling Venice,

"The operation was a failure. At first I thought my heart would break. But the relief in being alive to tell the tale comforts me. And why should I grieve at being back where I was before? I had let my mind run riot at times though and had seen myself dancing at parties and in swimming in the summer and having lots of men attentive to me. But there, I might have missed the nice quietness Pongo gives me and perhaps he, the old dear, would have tripped me up at every turn for having him changed. Of course that's all pure bravado, Venice. I'm bitterly disappointed.

"Lola wrote some one at home who told mother about your Marquis and the American who is always at your heels. I do think it's wonderful, but I knew titles would adore you.

"Ernest is still sweet to me; but, of course, he has to come and see me every few days anyway. I'm still in bed - so I guess he's just a nice kind doctor and not a beau after all. Probably when I'm up and about again he'll drop away completely. I could be unhappy, but I won't. After all, I've enjoyed several months of him, and a young man, even for several months, was beyond my farthest dreams.

"Do write me all about yourself - everything. Aren't you coming home soon?"

"Your loving, Nolly."

Venice stumbled at a curb and signed Poor Nolly, always to lead a dull, sequestered life. Back in her room at the Louis-LeGrand she opened the second letter. Nolly was engaged to Ernest Price!

How simply marvelous. I must cable her. Venice rushed out again, her mind singing with the happiness of Nolly.

The cable dispatched, Venice stood uncertainly in the Rue Commo. She was too happy to go back to her room at the Louis-LeGrand and sit by herself alone with her excitement.

"Jove, Venice Muir. How are you?"

It was Lita Chase very chic in tomato-colored tweed that accentuated the canary hair peeping from her tweed beret.

"Hello," cried Venice. "Come to the Ritz Bar with me for a little cocktail."

"Won't I just?" She linked her arm in Venice's and together they found a table jammed in one corner.

"What a sensation you've caused," said Lita as soon as their cocktails were ordered. "Imagine Rene killing himself on account of you."

"He didn't. He was frightfully hard up, and his debts were growing unbearable."

"That's what you say. Back in the light of this scandal, Venice, and, reish it, Jove, it's more potent than all my divorces."

"But your divorces are real. My scandal's misinterpreted," said Lita. "I don't believe you," said Venice. "It's funny, thought Venice. People who live occasionally themselves must believe sensational things about others."

"Are you fond of Guy Bryson?"

"Why," Venice asked, amused. "Because if you're not, I want him."

"That's perfectly all right," said Venice. Lita talked of men as though they were new hats or cars. "You are sporting. Is he divorced, do you know, or just separated?"

Venice sat quite still. Had she heard aright? Was he divorced or separated? He had a wife then. Or didn't Lita know what she was talking about?

"Oh, you do care then?" Lita misunderstood her silence.

"No, I don't," Venice managed. "I was just wondering about his wife. I never knew her. Don't they get along?" She felt as if some one else's voice was speaking out of her own mouth. Guy, the frank, the easy. He had been married all this time and never even mentioned it. This hurt, for she had enjoyed his friendship, and friendship is worthless without honesty.

"No, I don't know her either. She's an American, I believe. But I fancied Mrs. Coates was horribly upset at your going about so much with a married man. A nice girl like you, Venice." This last was added with a little laugh. It was as though Lita had suggested that they were members of the same club and no one suspected.

"That was it, then. Mrs. Coates' kindly warning. That explained the 'all things considered' of Mrs. Coates at Rene's party."

"I suppose I shouldn't," Venices murmured somberly. She was dejected. It was the old, shy Venice drinking a cocktail in the Ritz Bar with a woman that made her gauche and uncomfortable.

"Don't be intricate," begged Lita. "Venice glanced at her watch. 'I've got to hurry,' she said in that flat uninteresting manner of hers when gayer words evaded her. Venice walked quickly back to the Louis-LeGrand. She felt very hurt with Guy and a bit angry. This was an element of cheating in their companionship which disgusted her.

Lola's letter lay unopened on her bed. She listlessly tore the envelope's flap. The afternoon had worn her out with its diversity of emotions.

"Dearest Venice,

"You certainly are stepping high, wide and handsome these days. Imagine, a Marquis killing himself for you. Congratulations. And Guy Bryson still on your trail. I believe darling, you once told me you were a dud. Were you fooling me or yourself?"

"As you see by the paper, Jerry and I are on the uncertain deep. We've both been ill a good bit. In fact I think I'm going to be again."

"Love,

"Lola."

Only a repetition of her past. Lola would spend it in New York now. The way would be easy when she returned, but it had certainly been difficult in the building.

Dining with Guy at the Cabaret, she broke out abruptly. "Why didn't you tell me you were married?"

He started at her.

"How odd. When did you discover that? It was on the very subject I had the uncomfortable thing to tell you."

"I hope you didn't hurry to report." She was bitter from out the hurt which she felt.

"Look here," said Guy gently. "Lying a hand over hers that rested on the table, 'don't feel that way about it, Venice. It hasn't hurt you in any way, has it?'"

"Yes, it has, Guy. It's hurt my 'selfish' I thought we were friends. You're not friends if you're dishonest with each other."

"That's quite true, Venice. But that first afternoon at the Cafe de la Paix I never gave it a thought and later, when I did, I was afraid you might have had puritanical scruples and I did think the whole experiment was such a binger."

"If I could have mentioned knowing your wife once in a while it would have been better."

"You're right. But you wouldn't have let me be you gigolo, Venice."

"So there's a moment."

"Yes, I would have. I'd have let any one be my gigolo at that point."

They both laughed.

"Friends again?" begged Guy holding out a hand.

They shook and Venice acquiesced warmly. The hurt was gone and she realized that it was only the surprise of the thing that had ranked.

"What's your uncomfortable bit?" she asked.

"My wife's on her way over."

"No."

"Yes, and you're the cause."

"Guy, how dreadful!"

Guy's wife arrives, in the next installment, and Venice prepares to enjoy a victory.

WIDE DECREASE IS REVEALED IN BANK RESOURCES

Number of National Banks in Quarter Reduced by 147

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—(CPA)—

Dealing with one of the most critical periods in American banking life, the comptroller of the currency Tuesday reviewed the changes taking place between the national bank call of June 30 and that at the end of September. It was within this time that conditions developed in the banking world bringing to a head the negotiations preliminary to the formation of the National Credit Corporation.

The survey of the comptroller is limited, of course, to the banks under his jurisdiction. It does not deal with the changes in the so-called "non-member banks," in which the largest number of failures has occurred this year as well as in 1929. Therefore, only a part of the story of banking conditions in this country has been told. The report, however, gives a good picture of the shifting in the items of deposits and securities, and reflects the general decrease in resources that has recently taken place.

Fewer National Banks

The reduction in the number of national banks from June 30 to Sept. 29 was 147, or from 6,595 to 6,448. In the twelve months period from September, 1930, the decline in the number of reporting national banks was 539. Not all of this decrease was due to failures, for in the period there were numerous consolidations as a part of the endeavor to strengthen the banking situation by merging weak banks with those having larger resources. There were also some withdrawals from the national banking system.

The total decrease in the resources of the national banks in the September quarter is given by the comptroller of the currency as $1,586,634,000, or slightly over 7 per cent. The rate of reduction was much swifter in this period than in the previous three quarters, for in the entire twelve months to Sept. 30 the reduction in resources was $2,532,619,000 or about 10 per cent.

The same general ratios of decrease occurred in the deposit item which decreased $1,818,856,000 in the September quarter and approximately $2,102,000,000 for the twelve months period. An analysis of the shift of these deposits would show that a considerable part went from national or commercial banks into savings banks; also that while the deposits of both "member" and "non-member" banks were decreasing, there was a rapid increase in the amount of the deposits of the postal savings system, which now shows the highest deposit item in its history.

Some part of the loss of deposits was also due to the withdrawal of currency which was subsequently hoarded but which is now gradually coming out of its hiding places.

Loans Also Decrease

The loans and discounts of the national banks apparently decreased at a more rapid rate in the September quarter than the average reduction for the 12 months. The figures for the quarter and for the year show losses in this item respectively of $697,550,000 and $2,173,143,000. This is in line with the showing of the weekly figures published by the federal reserve board. It may be said that the same tendencies have continued since the end of September, producing a considerable reduction for the month of October and for first half of November.

With respect to the holdings of securities of the national banks, the trend has not been similar to that in other items. This is mainly due to the fact that in order to become highly liquid while there was nervousness among bank depositors, it was the policy of national, as well as all other banks, to increase their holdings of government securities. This item in the September quarter rose about $33,000,000, at the same time the holdings of securities other than governments decreased $38,553,000. For the 12 months, the national banks gained nearly $73,000,000.

Chain Letter Craze Keeps Hollywood Postmen Busy

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
(Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
Hollywood—(CPA)— Everything is going to be absolutely O. K. now, because another chain letter epidemic is sweeping Hollywood and this letter like its predecessors is guaranteeing to bring good luck. Everybody's awfully happy about it except the postmen.

Why hard-boiled Hollywood should be expected to fall for this ingenious device to attract the attention of the gods of good luck is just one of those mysteries. The fact remains that half the United States has evidently included a star's name in the list of nine names to whom to send the chain letter. It appears that if within nine days you send nine copies of the letter to nine persons, Wall Street is in the hollow of your hand from thenceforth. If, however, you neglect to forward the nine billets of cheer and fortune, 900 in their total holdings of all classes of securities.

The report submitted today closes at the date when the number of bank suspensions throughout the country was reaching the highest weekly totals in history. The suspensions in the first week of October were larger than for any similar period in the past two years and amounted to 158. The total for the month of October was the largest for any month on record. According to the "American Banker," no less than 1,896 banks have suspended since Jan. 1 with deposits approximating $1,525,000,000.

mercy only knows what may happen to you.

Every now and then Hollywood is deluged by some such chain letter idea. Fans feel it their duty to let their favorite stars have a share in the impending benefits. Maurice Chevalier received nearly 400 of the beneficial letters one day this week, and Marlene Dietrich found 300 in a single mail.

There is reason for the postmen to groan; which, by the way, they are doing. Charles Ruggles, the statistician of the film colony, began statistizing today. "If the first person who receives one of these letters," he said after some time with paper and pencil, "sent it to nine people, and if each of the nine sent it to nine, and if nobody missed out, the number of letters on the ninth round would amount to 49,000,000. First there'd be—why, it's like—like—"

"Like rabbits?" Stuart Erwin suggested. He borrowed the Ruggles paper and pencil and began to check up. After half an hour of figuring, during which two tablecloths in the Paramount restaurant were covered with penciled sums in arithmetic, Erwin gave up. "It's worse than rabbits," he said, "it's like germs."

FERTILIZER COST IN STATE WAS $2,133,377

Washington—(CP)—A total of 33,644 farmers in Wisconsin spent $2,133,377 for fertilizers during 1929, the bureau of census, department of commerce, announced today.

A total of 25,734 farmers in the state reported an expenditure of $42,486 for commercial fertilizers. Other fertilizers included in the total expenditures were manure, marl, lime and ground limestone, the department said.

With a smaller number of farmers reporting, Wisconsin spent less for fertilizers than any other state in this division, the East Central, including Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan. Of Wisconsin's immediate neighbors, both Iowa and Minnesota farmers reported smaller expenditures.

Fertilizer purchases for these states were Ohio, $11,028,050; Indiana, $7,054,519; Illinois, $3,593,825; Michigan, $5,474,121; Minnesota, $7,174,755 and Iowa, $1,171,393.

In the entire United States, 2,324,022 farmers reported an expenditure of $71,065,702 for all fertilizers, a total of $7,535,022 of this amount being spent for commercial materials.

VARIED PROGRAM FOR MAENNERCHOR CONCERT

A varied program has been arranged for the concert to be given by Appleton Maennerchor and mixed choir at Eagles hall at 8 o'clock Sunday evening. The program will be directed by Prof. A. J. Theiss. One of the features will be a two-act comedy, "Kindstaut," to be presented by the Maennerchor. An orchestra will furnish selections and music for dancing.

Members of the cast for "Kindstaut" are: Velt, Grafenveit, Jacob Hoffmann, Baerbel, his wife, Mrs. Joseph Obermeier; Rosl, Miss Marie Alfer; Kathl, Miss Florence Schaefer; Vinzenz, Erich Kirk, and Steffel, Joseph Obermeier.

"I have to be kind to my throat"

"I've tried several brands of cigarettes but I prefer Luckies. I smoke them regularly as I have to be kind to my throat. I learned this from my previous stage experience. Your improved Cellophane wrapper is splendid. A flip of the tab and it's open."

Ray Francis

When Ray Francis left the stage and enlisted in the Hollywood army, pictures got a great recruit! The tall brunette beauty was a great success on her film debut, and she's charged along to even bigger things. She is one of Warner Bros.' brightest stars.

Made of the finest tobaccos — The Cream of many Crops — LUCKY STRIKE alone offers the throat protection of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays — the process that expels certain harsh, biting irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. These expelled irritants are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!" No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.
